A big thank you

A special celebration was held to mark the 10-year anniversary of the Kingborough Volunteer Program on Thursday, July 21.

Volunteers and recipient clients of the Kingborough Council funded program were invited to share in the occasion, which included formal speeches, piano music, and refreshments at the Kingborough Community Hub.

The Volunteer Program has been coordinated by Trish Jay since its inception in 2012.

Trish said the support shown by the program's "wonderful volunteers" was always appreciated.

"The Program provides volunteer support, with gardening, transport, pet support and social interactions, to those aged over 65 years who live in their homes throughout Kingborough."

A Welcome the Country was delivered by Sarah Wilcox.

The event was also attended by past and present Kingborough Councillors, including Cr Flora Fox, Cr Christian Street, Cr Amanda Midgley, Members for Franklin Dean Winter MP, and Nic Street MP.

Apologies were given by Mayor of Kingborough, Cr Paula Wriedt and Deputy Mayor, Cr Jo Westwood, who were both unable to attend due to illness.

Cr Christian Street said the Kingborough Volunteer Program enriched the lives of many in the community.

"Here in Kingborough our volunteers provide nearly 4000 hours of assistance and help people to remain living in their own homes for longer," noted Mr Street.

"Volunteers are one of the most important resources that any community has, and we treasure our supporters here in Kingborough."

"Our amazing volunteers provide help with gardening, pet walking, transport to appointments and social support."

"Most importantly, every visit involves a 'cup of tea' and a chat and helps address the social isolation that many older members in our community face."

"Many of our clients tell us that they wouldn't be able to remain living in their own home without the valuable support of our volunteers."

"Volunteering has long been a driver of individual and community wellbeing."

"Not only does it contribute significant economic value, but also gives us enormous social, cultural and recreational benefits."

If you or anyone else you know could benefit from this program or wish to be part of it as a volunteer, contact the Volunteer Program Coordinator, on 6211 8200 or email kc@kingborough.tas.gov.au

See page 3 and next week's Kingborough Chronicle for further coverage, including photos.

The 10th anniversary of the Kingborough Volunteer Program was celebrated on Thursday, July 21, by volunteers and recipient clients alike. Pictured Program Coordinator, Trish Jay with husband Ian Jay. Ian is a founding member of the Channel Men's Shed group who also volunteer in the program.

Rental crisis

Member for Franklin, David O'Byrne is calling on the State Government to introduce a levy on full-time short-stay properties, as the rental market has continued to become increasingly tight and unaffordable for locals, including working families.

"The tightening rental market in Kingborough is growing increasingly unaffordable for many, while the number of short-stay accommodation properties in the region climbs above pre-pandemic levels," wrote David O'Byrne MP in an email to the Kingborough Chronicle on July 19.

"Rental prices in Kingborough have increased by around 50 per cent over the last five years, and has pushed many household budgets to their limit."

"Families right across the state are struggling to get a roof over their head, and Kingborough is no exception."

"Near-record low rental vacancy rates have been exacerbated by several rental properties moving over to short stay websites like Airbnb, with the latest data indicating that there are approximately 450 of these properties in the Kingborough local government area alone."

"Thousands of Tasmanians with nowhere to go are languishing on near-record social housing wait lists, with wait times for priority applicants surpassing 72 weeks."

Mr O'Byrne said a levy on short stay properties would 'level the playing field' between renters and tourists.

"It could operate much like other short stay accommodation levies used throughout the world, applied and collected automatically when a booking is made," suggested Mr O'Byrne.

"Revenue from the scheme should be appropriated directly to homelessness and crisis accommodation services."

Questioning bank branch closure

The National Australia Bank has confirmed its Kingston branch is permanently closing on September 29.

Federal Member for Franklin and Federal Minister for Small Business, Julie Collins MP said she is concerned the NAB's decision to close the branch may "impact adversely" upon local customers who are elderly and those who have mobility issues.

"The provision of banking services to regional and rural communities is vital and I hope that with this decision customers who are impacted will be able to continue to access the banking services they rely on from NAB," stated Ms Collins.

Last edition, the Kingborough Chronicle reported comments from State Member for Franklin, Dean Winter MP regarding local customers, staff, and the bank's recent multi-billion-dollar after-tax profits.

In response, NAB Corporate Affairs' representative Peter Dalton said, "It's important to note that we're working closely with our colleagues on new opportunities, with a commitment to no job losses".

"In addition to this, it's important to note that our branch team are already talking with our customers about their banking requirements and the various alternatives available."

Mr Dalton provided a statement attributable to NAB Retail Customer Executive Tasmania, Lara Faithfull.

"Increasingly customers are banking digitally, with more than 94 per cent of customer interactions now taking place over the phone, by video or online," explained Ms Faithfull.

"As more and more customers are choosing to bank online, we're investing in improving our digital platform to make it easier and faster."

When questioned further, Mr Dalton clarified, "The quoted 94 per cent figure is a national number", not specific to Kingston.

"While our physical branch presence in Kingston will no longer be there, we will still be there for our customers, just in different ways," stated Ms Faithfull.

"The branch team will be working with customers over the coming weeks until we close, talking with them about the various banking alternatives available.

"These include our partnership with Australia Post and the Bank@post service as well as connecting with our mobile bankers, home lending specialists or business bankers in person or for phone or video appointments."

The partnership is a 10-year agreement facilitating deposits and withdrawals.

The Kingborough Chronicle replied with the following questions on July 20 and 21 and has not received a response prior to print.

"Can NAB provide any figures on the number of customers currently visiting the Kingston branch?"

"The Australia Post branch in Kingston is limited in space, how will it accommodate NAB customers in addition to existing customers?"

"What would it take for the National Australia Bank to stay in Kingston?"

Antiviral treatments for COVID-19

People who test positive for COVID-19 can now access anti viral treatments under the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme (PBS), if they meet eligibility criteria.

The Pharmaceutical Benefits Advisory Committee (BPAC) recommends treatment be commenced within five days of the onset of COVID signs or symptoms.

The Australian Medical Association recommends eligible people make a phone appointment with their GP to access antiviral medicines.

Eligibility criteria, as of July 11, are as follows:

Older Australians and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, who test positive for COVID-19.

- People 70 years or older;

- People 50 years or older, with two additional risk factors for developing severe disease (see below); and

- People 30 years or older, identifying as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander, with two additional risk factors for developing severe disease (see below).

Risk factors include:

- living in residential aged care;
- living with disability with multiple conditions and/or frailty (but not limited to living in supported accommodation);
- neurological conditions like stroke or dementia and demyelinating conditions;
- chronic respiratory conditions including COPD, moderate or severe asthma;

- obesity or diabetes (type I or II requiring medication);
- congestive heart failure, coronary artery disease, cardiomyopathies;
- kidney failure or cirrhosis; or
- living remotely with reduced access to higher level healthcare.

People 18 years of age or older who are moderately-to-severely immunocompromised and test positive for COVID.

Conditions include:

- blood cancer or some red blood cell disorders;
- transplant recipient;
- primary or acquired (HIV) immunodeficiency;
- chemotherapy or whole-body radiotherapy in the last three months;
- high dose corticosteroids or pulse corticosteroid therapy in the last three months;
- immunosuppressive treatments in the last three months;
- rituximab in the last 12 months;
- cerebral palsy or down syndrome;
- congenital heart disease; or
- living with disability with multiple conditions and/or frailty.

On June 30 the PBAC recommended changes to the PBS eligibility criteria for oral antiviral drugs molnupiravir (Lagevrio®) and nirmatrelvir and ritonavir (Paxlovid®), "in the light of current understanding of the evidence for effectiveness and safety of these medicines, recent PBS utilisation patterns, and the changing epidemiology of COVID-19".

Omicron wave reaches Kingborough

COVID cases reported in Kingborough reached 882 in the week ending July 9, the third highest rate among local government areas in Tasmania.

Kingborough recorded a “high” case rate of 23 cases per 1000 residents.

Huon Valley increased from a “moderate” to “high” case rate, recording 313 cases, equating to 17 cases per 1000 people.

The July 10 Weekly Surveillance Report stated the “new wave” of COVID transmission being observed across Tasmania was due to the Omicron BA.5 sub-lineage.

Weekly case numbers for the state increased by 33 per cent from 7632 to 10,185.

State Health Commander, Kathrine Morgan-Wicks on Wednesday, July 20 said the number of COVID-19 cases has increased throughout winter and the impact on hospitals has been significant.

“There are currently 25 outbreaks in Tasmanian residential aged care facilities across the State,” noted Ms Morgan-Wicks.

“Public Health strongly recommends wearing a mask in all indoor places and on public transport, and in other settings if you can’t physically distance.”

The “strong recommendations” from Public Health have not prompted the Tasmanian Government to reintroduce mask mandates, however.

“Masks are still required to be worn in all our public hospitals and high-risk settings,” noted Ms Morgan-Wicks.

“There are currently 173 COVID-positive patients in Tasmanian public hospitals across the State, with 49 patients being treated specifically for COVID-related illness, with two in ICU.”

Meanwhile, the Aged and Community Care Providers Association (ACCPA) reported on July 16 there had been an “alarming rise” in COVID outbreaks, with 857 aged care homes managing outbreaks across the nation, representing 31 per cent of aged care homes, and with 120 of homes becoming affected the previous week.

“Already, more than 5200 residents and 2700 staff are infected,” reported ACCPA interim CEO Paul Sadler.

“Over 2100 residents have died this year.

“There have been 223 deaths in the past two weeks.”

In recent days the death toll has continued to increase in southern Tasmania.

Premier and Minister for Health, Jeremy Rockliff confirmed on Saturday, July 23 “a person in their late 70s has passed away in the state’s south”.

On Sunday July 24, the Premier confirmed “a man in his 80s and a woman in her late 60s have passed away in the state’s south”.

Yesterday, Monday, July 25, the Premier confirmed two further COVID-related deaths in the state’s south, a man in his late 70s and man in his 40s.

See page 2 for details on eligibility for antiviral medication.

Short-stay levies and lobbying

“We need to encourage existing rental properties to stay in the rental market, rather than have more properties bleed into the short stay market,” continued Mr O’Byrne.

“At the moment, tourists are effectively outbidding renters for scarce housing supply, and it’s having an adverse effect on our community.

“Some have called for caps on the number of short stay properties or increasing council rates on such properties.

“But these approaches would create inequities and distortions in the market by not treating all investors and owners equally.”

The Kingborough Chronicle has written to the Premier and Minister for Housing asking if Mr O’Byrne’s proposed solution to the rental crisis will be considered by the Tasmanian Government.

The Kingborough Chronicle has also asked the Premier whether he thinks it is a problem if a lobbying firm represents both short-stay accommodation providers and a charity organisation assisting homeless people.

The Kingborough Chronicle shall report the Premier’s response next edition.

Lobbying laws missing

Meanwhile, Independent Member for Nelson Meg Webb said last week the Integrity Commission review into Tasmania’s lobbying regulation system has exposed it to be one of the weakest and most ineffectual in the nation.

“Currently there are 66 third-party ‘hired gun’ lobbyists on the Lobbyist Register, but under our passive and opaque system the activities of registered lobbyists are invisible and unaccountable,” Ms Webb said.

“Unlike other jurisdictions, Tasmania does not require the public disclosure of which MP was lobbied, by whom, when and on which legislation or policy.

“Our minimalist system also allows in-house lobbyists and others actively lobbying to influence legislation and policy outcomes to go unregistered and unseen.”

Ms Webb said necessary reforms include the introduction of lobbying legislation “with teeth” to ensure compliance, and an expanded regulatory system to include all lobbyists and all MPs.

“All Members of Parliament should be covered by the state’s lobbying regulation system,” Ms Webb said.

“Consideration should be given to including local government councillors under the state’s lobbying regulation.

“The definition of “lobbyist” and the lobbying regulatory system should be expanded to include in-house and other lobbyists additional to third-party lobbyists.

“Specific legislation should be introduced to empower the Integrity Commission to provide lobbying oversight and compliance measures.”

Ms Webb said the payment of lobbying “success fees” should be banned, and lobbyists should be required to provide in an online register, among other things, information on which public officers were lobbied and when, the purpose and substance of the contact, and the desired and intended outcomes from the contact.

Client Maggie Ey and volunteer Jeannie Ledingham attended the Kingborough Volunteer Program’s 10th anniversary celebration on Thursday, July 21 .

LGBTIQ+ community consultation open

Kingborough Council has commenced consultation to improve its understanding of local experiences and needs of the LGBTIQ+ community.

Council aims to learn what else can be done to make the municipality a safer and more inclusive place.

"We want to know what the LGBTIQ+ community, their family, friends and allies would like to see as far as leadership and support from Council when it comes to making Kingborough more welcoming and inclusive," said Cr Amanda Midgley, Chair of Kingborough Council's LGBTIQ+ working group.

"This working group has representatives from the LGBTIQ+ community and they are helping staff to develop engagement material for consultation.

"Council has also received support from Working It Out, a Tasmanian organisation dedicated to raising awareness, providing support and advocacy for the Tasmanian LGBTIQ+ communities.

"Recent research conducted by Council, revealed anonymous surveys were the preferred method of consultation with Kingborough's LGBTIQ+ community.

"In response, we have launched our new anonymous survey online to collect information on people's experiences, issues and perceptions of Kingborough in relation to safety, discrimination and inclusiveness."

The information from the survey will be used to produce an LGBTIQ+ Action Plan.

Responses to the survey are welcome from all members of the LGBTIQ+ community, their family, friends, and organisations that support this community.

For access to the survey visit www.kingborough.tas.gov.au/2022/07/lgbtiq-community-consultation/

The survey closes on August 12.

Heaps of waste diverted

More than 1800 tonnes of organic waste has been diverted from landfill in only eight months, thanks to locals participating in Kingborough Council's Food Organics and Garden Organics (FOGO) collection service.

The FOGO service was introduced by Council last October.

"With approximately 60 per cent of the average household bin made up of food and garden waste, FOGO has been an important tool in reducing waste to landfill," said Mayor, Paula Wriedt.

"Since October an extra 900 households have joined our fortnightly FOGO service, which converted from green waste to food organics and garden organics.

"This means an extra 400 tonnes of organic waste was diverted from landfill from October 2021.

"Diverting organic waste from landfill not only reduces the amount of waste we have to bury, it reduces our community's greenhouse gas emissions.

"This equates to saving 1638 carbon dioxide equivalents of greenhouse gas emissions from entering the atmosphere.

"As well as diverting FOGO from landfill, as a community we are reducing the amount of recyclable material we send to landfill.

"Through our dedicated recycling unit, permanently located inside the Council Civic Centre, our Barretta and Bruny Island Waste and Recycling Centres, and our collection services we have diverted over 7000 tonnes of material from being landfilled.

"Our permanent recycling unit at the Civic Centre collects items like batteries, light bulbs, x-rays, coffee pods, small e-waste, toner cartridges and batteries," noted Cr Wriedt.

"Last financial year we diverted over 14 tonnes of paint, 34 tonnes of television and computer e-waste, 27 tonnes of oil, and nearly 760 tonnes of metal, which is fantastic news for our environment."

Plastic-free July

"This month is Plastic Free July," said Cr Wriedt.

"Plastic Free Places are helping local businesses to transition away from single use plastics."

Council is encouraging food businesses to "get with the Plastic Free Places Program".

To locate a Plastic Free Place, email troy.turner@boomeralliance.org

Barretta Waste and Recycling Centre has a dedicated area for recycling fluorescent tubes and light globes, oil, batteries, glass bottles and jars, cardboard, paper, co-mingled (plastic bottles and milk cartons), e-waste, and marine flares.

Bruny Island Recycling Centre has a facility for recycling cardboard, glass, co-mingled paper and plastic, car batteries, cooking oil, aluminium cans, and engine oil (in 20-litre drums).

Drive safely on icy roads

Tasmania Police have urged motorists to be cautious and to drive to the road conditions after icy, wet weather and snowfalls increased road hazards and risks last week.

"With ice on our roads this morning, which is predicted to continue for the coming days, it's timely for police to remind all motorists of the importance of driving to the conditions and being alert for ice on our roads," stated Inspector Jim Semmens on July 19.

"Winter brings adverse road conditions such as ice, rain and snow, which make road surfaces slippery, and it's imperative motorists drive to the conditions to prevent crashes."

Safety actions for driving in adverse weather

- Drive to the conditions, reducing speed to allow plenty of time to stop safely.
- Be aware roads can become slippery from rain, hail, ice, and snow.
- Leave plenty of space between your vehicle and the vehicle ahead; four seconds at least in poor conditions.

- Increase your reactionary gap to the vehicle in front to increase safety.
- Don't allow distractions such as mobile phones to affect your judgment and reaction times.
- Pay attention to road warning signs about hazardous conditions.
- Drive with headlights on when visibility is poor.
- Ensure tyres are in good condition and are correctly inflated.
- Ensure the windscreen is free of ice, clean and the demister is working as it should.
- Ensure wiper blades work and are in good condition.

A century for Enid

Enid Mackenzie, of Snug, is turning 100 today.
Her daughter, Maxine Drew, is sharing some of Enid's life-story to mark this special milestone.
“Enid Ayers was born at Longford, Tasmania, on the 27th of July 1922 to Theresa and Harold Ayers,” noted Maxine.
“She is a fourth-generation Tasmanian.
“Her ancestry is proudly of convict descent and early settlers of Longford from Norfolk UK in the mid-1800's.
“Her father, Harold, was a master painter and sign writer.
“He painted at the large estates around Longford.
“Enid had a frugal, but very happy family upbringing, in the close-knit, English-style village.
“They rode bikes everywhere, even to Avoca for family visits.
“Enid did very well at school and started nursing in 1940, at the beginning of the Second World War, in Launceston.
“Enid became a Sister of Nursing, an absolute credit to her.
“She rode her bike to Launceston General Hospital, guided by the frost on the side of the roads during blackout restrictions.
“Enid met her husband while nursing, as his sisters were nurses also.
“She met John at Winnaleah, where his family farm was.”
The couple farmed at Winnaleah, then Forth before moving to Devonport to run the Star Theatre milk bar.
“Enid went back to training doing midwifery at Mersey Hospital.
“Enid and a group of other nurses then started the first creche in Devonport, which was well respected in the community.”
After a few years in Brisbane, the couple moved to Kingborough in 2012 to be near eldest daughter Maxine and son-in-law Graham.
“She used to come here for holidays to visit family in her young days, having many happy memories here,” wrote Maxine.
“John passed away at Snug Village in 2016.”
Enid has two daughters, four grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Today, Enid Mackenzie is a resident at Snug Village. Happy 100th birthday Enid! (PS)

Help the Uni make a good move.

It's all true: the Uni is continuing to move into Hobart's CBD. But it won't work without input from everyone it'll affect. However you feel about the move, the conversation needs a shake up.

So that's what we've done, by creating a community panel called The Shake Up.

It's an unvarnished conversation between the Uni and the entire community. We want all of Hobart to be involved, from shift workers and commuters to retirees and future students.

It's all about your voice.

A spacious, market-entry, family home in Kingston

This solid, family home offers a perfect opportunity for investors, families, or first home buyers to enter the market.

Built in 1984, the home sits on a large corner parcel of 775 square metres of land. The spacious living area offers glimpses over Margate Marina and flows, invitingly, through to an open-plan kitchen/dining area.

The neutral-toned, functional kitchen offers plenty of bench and cupboard space. There are three, good size bedrooms, all with built-in wardrobes. A centrally located family bathroom is complete with a bathtub, shower, vanity, and adjacent toilet. The sizable laundry enjoys plenty of space for storage and easy outside access.

There have been some updates to improve the property. Heated by a reverse cycle heat pump, there is also a heat transfer system to keep the entire home ambient. Outside you will find a spacious front and back yard, fully fenced and perfect for children or pets. A garden shed offers storage for the keen gardener's tools. An additional utility space gives extra living or storage options. Within walking distance to schools, shops and on the main transport route, this home provides the convenience you need. The property is tenanted until October this year, at $450 per week.

High Quality Landscape Supplies

Leslievale Landscape and Gravel Supplies (LLGS) are a truly family-owned and operated business, employing locals, buying local products, and selling to the local community.

The business is wholly and solely focussed on landscaping and firewood supplies.

And the LLGS team tries their absolute best to do this job well, offering fast, efficient, and friendly service, with a range of trucks of varying sizes to suit any location.

Trucks available can carry anything from one tonne to 12-tonnes, or 2-cubic-metres up to 11-cubic metres of product.

When after materials for your gardening, landscaping, or construction job, or a load of firewood, be sure to check out LLGS.

Stock includes a large range of road bases, drainage gravels, red gravels, mixes, alongside a great selection of decorative gravels, barks, mulches, wood chips, sawdust and soils including plain and garden mixes.

Supply yards are located at Leslie Vale and on the Esplanade in Huonville.

Courtesy trailers are also offered to transport materials to your site.

Bookings are essential as courtesy trailers are usually in high demand.

While the Huonville yard offers pick-up

Melissa Cohen, Paul and Denise Harriss from Leslievale Landscape and Garden Supplies (LLGS). LLGS are a truly family owned and operated business employing locals, buying local products, selling to the local community.

only, deliveries are available from the Leslie Vale yard.

LLGS are an accredited member of the Firewood Association of Australia and are one of the largest firewood producers in southern Tasmania.

Firewood is located at the Leslie Vale yard only, which is equipped with a self-loading area.

Leslie Vale staff are also happy to load your firewood onto your truck, trailer, or ute using their loader.

Firewood is cut to a length of around 30 centimetres (12 inches) and split to an easy-to-handle size, meaning no further splitting is required.

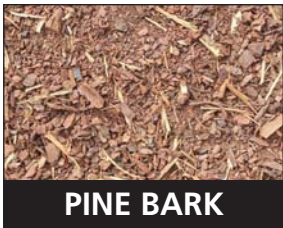

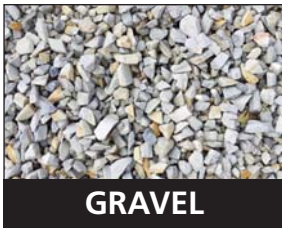

Unsplit potbelly wood and bagged kindling are available too.

“We look forward to seeing you and assisting with your project,” said Paul from Leslievale Landscape and Gravel Supplies.

For your next project, call the Leslie Vale yard on 6239 6891 or the Huonville yard on 6264 1398.

OH WHAT A FEELING

Second place winners in Wednesday night fours competition, The Beach Volley Ballers team of Andy Carswell, Dave Morris, Stewart Cashion and Michael Glancey, on Wednesday, July 20. (Pat Lee)

Better Performance officially bowl best

Evening fours

Better Performance took out the first series of the 2022 night-time fours competition in an exciting finale against the Pee Bees on Wednesday, July 20.

Series 1 came to an end when the ladder-leaders were pinned in a 16-16 draw by the Pee Bees, who were placed well down the ladder.

Better Performance won the series by just one point, finishing on 34 points overall.

Team members Tony Verrier, Robbie Wallace, Jason Ayers and Dale Wallace made themselves and the competition sponsors, Better Performance Car Care of Margate, proud.

The Beach Volley Ballers won second place after demolishing the Cherry Pickers 32-8, to finish the competition plus 142-shots up.

Barrie's Bitches collected the third-place prize after beating Buttolph 30-10, to finish the competition plus 122-shots up.

The second and third place getters were decided on shots-up, as both teams finished on 33 points.

Two other drawn games on the night provided entertaining viewing for spectators.

The Dynamics and The Mont drew 19-19, and The Left Overs and The Geeveston Woodchoppers drew 17-17.

In other games, His and Hers defeated the Barefoot Ballbusters and The Four South Africans defeated Second Shot (22-17).

Afternoon fours

Team Hinkley outclassed Newbold, with a 27-shot

Third place winners in Wednesday night fours competition Will Coad, Treb O'Neill, Brent Forsyth and Nic Courto, at the Donald Hazell Indoor Centre. (PS Pat Lee) defeat in Round 15 of the Kingborough Bowls and Community Club afternoon fours competition.

The winning team of Ann Hinkley, Peter Clark, Jeff Parsons and skip Paul McCann remain on top of the ladder.

Kingborough Bowls and Community Club members were treated to great entertainment in Round 15, with only two more rounds of Series 1 to go.

A tight game between Dannock and Palmer was decided by the last bowl on the last end, with Palmer succeeding by two, after eighteen ends.

Chaffey also had a "big day out", with a 26-shot win over Hickey, to advance to tenth place on the ladder.

In results of play, Harra's Harem defeated Pearce (24-12), Palmer defeated Dannock (17-15), Rosevear defeated McLroy/Neske (26-11), Baker/Thompson defeated Hemmings (25-8), Hinkley defeated Newbold (32-5), Schooling defeated Willett (20-13), Cawthorn defeated Lee (21-17), and Chaffey defeated Hickey (34-8). Duggan and Mus had byes.

The leader board "top six" remains unchanged: Hinkley, Baker/Thompson, Harra's Harem, Newbold, Duggan and Cawthorn.

Round 16 has potential to upset the ladder heading into the final round on August 2.
