Kingborough raises the flag for transgender pride

With a historic flag raising last week, Kingborough Council officially launched its LGBTIQA+ Action Plan.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said the launch of both the LGBTIQA+ Action Plan and the raising of a flag to commemorate Transgender Day of Visibility demonstrated Council's commitment to creating a community that is inclusive, safe, welcoming and respectful for all.

"The LGBTIQA+ Action Plan was created by a diverse community group who engaged with our community to gather ideas about what Council could do to improve inclusiveness," Cr Wriedt said.

"This Action Plan provides a voice for our LGBTIQA+ community, and highlights some immediate, low-cost actions that will go a long way to supporting inclusion.

"I look forward to implementing this Action Plan with my colleagues and thank members of our community for bravely raising their voices to this important initiative.

"One of the actions in the Action Plan is to fly flags at our Civic Centre to commemorate significant events and raise awareness about LGBTIQA+ experiences and achievements.

"The Transgender Pride Flag is the first flag to be flown on the council's community flagpole.

"Transgender Day of Visibility is about raising awareness, increasing visibility and recognising the achievements and lived experiences of trans and gender diverse people."

The Action Plan can be viewed on Kingborough Council's website.

Torched

Dear Editor,
The discovery of a dead devil in a forestry logging coupe, burned to a crisp by Forestry Tasmania's logging
'regeneration' burns, is disgusting.
But it is not an isolated incident.
Thousands of animals die every time Forestry chooses to fire-bomb their logged areas.
These 'regeneration' burns are often confused with fuel reduction burns, but they are vastly different.
What we need is an immediate end to native forest logging, and an end to outdated firebombing of logged forests.
Premier Rockliff, stop endorsing the incineration of wildlife.
This has been going for far too long and has to stop.

Get over it, get on with it

Dear Editor,
The Tasmanian State Parliament is again wasting time with trivia.
The Opposition should be censored, pushing for an independent inquiry into the racing industry.
Labor are still smarting over Madeline Ogilvie switching sides to the Libs.
Get over it, Labor and Greens.
Get on with more important issues such as reducing cost of living pressures and lower electricity bills.

Consultations now open

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt has announced the start of six weeks of community consultation on the 2023/24 Council Budget.

“Every year, Kingborough Council plans how we can best service the needs of our community, through developing our budget,” Cr Wriedt said.

“Demands grow every year for new and existing services and we need to create and maintain our built infrastructure and look after our many natural assets that benefit the community.

“We understand that households are under increasing pressures due to the rising cost of living.

“Council is also experiencing increased costs.

“This Draft Budget aims to meet the community’s expectations by ensuring staff have the resources to deliver a range of services and projects that benefit our community.

“This year, Council is proposing a 4.5 per cent residential general rate increase along with a 7 per cent commercial and industrial rate increase.

“Kingborough remains a low rating Council among Greater Hobart Councils and this draft budget is centred around maintaining this.

“Budget feedback can be provided to Council until 14 May 2023 through a survey, written or emailed submissions.

“All feedback will be given to Councillors as they consider the draft budget.

“Council will formally decide on the draft budget at the 13 June 2023 Council Meeting.”

Feedback can be provided until Sunday, May 14 through online survey on the Council website, emailing kc@kingborough.tas.gov.au or by writing to the General Manager at 15 Channel Highway, Kingston 7050.

Tragedy on Bruny Island

Tragically, an 86-year-old woman has died following a single vehicle crash at Bruny Island Main Road, South Bruny Island on Thursday, March 30.

Police and emergency services were called to the scene about 12.50pm.

Initial inquiries indicate the woman was travelling south on Bruny Island Main Road in a white Holden Barina hatch when it appears she may have suffered a medical episode.

Anyone with information or relevant dash cam footage, is asked to contact police on 131 444.

Footage can be provided through the Tasmania Police evidence portal at <https://taspol.au/evidence.com/.../public/southbrunycrash>.

A report will be prepared for the coroner.

Salmon for Salvation Army

Huon Aquaculture recently hosted a salmon lunch for members of the Kingborough Salvation Army at their Kingborough-Huon Corps in Blackmans Bay.

The lunch of honey salmon with parsley and lemon dressing was prepared and served by Huon Aquaculture staff, who took the opportunity to give back to the local community and show their appreciation for the important work done by the Salvation Army.

"We are thrilled to have had the opportunity to host this lunch for the Kingborough Salvation Army members," said Kristy Harrison, Huon's Community Relations Advisor.

"At Huon, we are committed to supporting our local community and giving back in any way we can.

"We hope that this lunch was a small way of showing our appreciation for the amazing work that the Salvation Army does in our community and served as a wonderful opportunity for members to come together and enjoy a meal in a welcoming and supportive environment."

Kingborough Salvation Army members enjoyed a delicious lunch of honey salmon with parsley and lemon dressing prepared and served by Huon Aquaculture staff. (PS)

Messing about at Dover Museum and Gallery

Dover Museum and Gallery (DMG) is currently featuring 'Messing about in Boats', a travelling exhibition on loan from the Maritime Museum of Tasmania.

The exhibition consists of five panels featuring various boating and regatta stories around Tasmania.

The exhibition will be on display until the end of April 2023.

DMG also has on display parts of its own 'Maritime History of the Far South' exhibition featuring stories on Tasmanian Aboriginal canoes, shipwrecks, the wreck of the Katherine Sharer and boat building.

DMG is supported by a range of talented local artists and has paintings, prints, ceramics, cards and books for sale.

If you are looking for that special gift, you may very well find it here.

Dover Museum and Gallery is located in the Dover Old School, 6989 Huon Highway, Dover and is open Saturday, Sunday and Mondays from 10.30am to 4pm.

Viewings for groups outside these times may be requested by phoning 0407 589 952.

More vaccines available through your local pharmacy

The Tasmanian Government is cutting red tape by expanding the list of eligible vaccines that can be administered by a local pharmacist.

Tasmania's pharmacist immunisers will now be able to administer selected vaccines not currently covered under the National Immunisation Program (NIP).

This includes a range of vaccines, including vaccines for shingles, and travel vaccines, when they have been prescribed by a medical or nurse practitioner.

In many cases, this will remove the need for Tasmanians to return to their medical practitioner to have the vaccine administered after it has been dispensed by a pharmacist, reducing the time spent by the patient and also reducing pressure on medical practitioners.

Premier and Minister for Health Jeremy Rockliff said this expansion goes a long way to expanding the health space and making it easier for Tasmanians to access health care.

"Under the previous guidelines, Tasmanians would need to visit their medical practitioners to receive a script, visit the pharmacist to collect the vaccine, and return to the medical clinic to have it administered," the Premier said.

"We're cutting this down to not only reduce pressure on our medical clinics but also save time for the patient.

"We know every minute counts for our health workers.

"We continue to progress new and innovative ways to make health more accessible and affordable for all Tasmanians and this is yet another example of that.

"Just a few weeks ago we saw the introduction of continued dispensing, allowing Tasmanians to access a one-off supply of their long-term medications - this is already seeing impressive results.

"We know how valuable the role of our skilled pharmacists is within our health system, and we will continue to work with them as we identify what other services they can safely provide to the community."

This expansion of vaccines includes non-NIP vaccines approved for use by the Therapeutic Goods Administration, except those where specialised training, screening or regulatory conditions apply.

Some vaccines will continue to only be able to be administered by medical practitioners.

The expansion does not include vaccines for tuberculosis, yellow fever, Q fever and mpox.

The broader scope of practice review is scheduled to be completed by June and will provide independent and evidence-informed advice to government on options to expand the pharmacists' scope of practice.

Wishing everyone a happy and safe Easter!

Realise the dream for cystic fibrosis

May is 65 Roses month, when the profile of cystic fibrosis (CF) is spotlighted in the community.

Cystic fibrosis (CF) is a genetic condition primarily affecting the lungs and digestive system but affecting many other parts in the body.

Kingborough resident Jen Hauser, a physiotherapist who has worked in CF for over 20 years, is taking up the 65 for CF Challenge, a campaign launched by Cystic Fibrosis Tasmania (CFT).

CFT is a not-for-profit organisation receiving no government funding and provides essential support and services to those impacted by CF living across Tasmania.

These services include provision of life-saving equipment used in the daily burdensome treatments to maintain lung health, and financial support towards physical and mental well-being programs.

'65 for CF - Realise the Dream' is a local campaign encouraging individuals to do a challenge in May around the numbers 6 and 5 and raise awareness and funds for cystic fibrosis.

65 roses came about in the US when a young boy couldn't pronounce the name of his condition and called it '65 roses' instead.

All funds raised go directly to CFT.

The challenge is only limited by your imagination, as long as it includes a 6 and a 5 in it.

Jen and her family will be taking up the challenge in a number of ways.

One challenge, which they have done for over a decade, is to rally 65 or more people to join their team '65 Roses for CF' in the City to Casino Family fun run event.

Jen asks that you wear red, a tutu, a cape, a mask, a wig, and let people know you are participating to paint the town red and raise awareness for cystic fibrosis.

Jen and her youngest daughter will also be once again donning their red tutus for the entire month of May and smashing out 65 kilometres walking around Kingston and Blackmans Bay.

Jen will also complete 65 exercise sessions on a fitness app in May.

She currently does some of these exercise sessions virtually with individuals with CF across the state as part of her role as a physiotherapist and is looking forward to challenging herself to do more.

Breakfast will be available at the Kingston Beach RSL Club after the Service

A march after the service will proceed from in front of the Salty Dog Restaurant on Osborne Esplanade to the RSL Club on Beach Road.
If people wish to wear medals that have been awarded to relatives, they should be worn on their right breast.
We encourage members of the public to support our principal fundraising effort by purchasing ANZAC memorabilia from our sellers at local shopping centres in the days before ANZAC Day.

The money we collect only goes to supporting veterans and their families and our other charitable purposes.
Members of the public who wish to lay a wreath please contact the Secretary.

PLEASE CONTACT US IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN JOINING THE RSL TO SUPPORT OUR CHARITY.

Lions book sale at Ranelagh Showgrounds

The Lions Club has again given back to the community, giving equipment worth $20,000 to the Huon and Kingston community nurses, with a donation of three special, adjustable hospital-type beds to enable nurses and families to better support patients in their own home.

The Lions Club of Huon was able to run a successful book sale during 2021 and 2022, which was spread out due to COVID interruptions.

Following the great success of that sale, the club is running another sale this year from Friday, April 28 to Sunday, April 30 at the Ranelagh Showgrounds Home Industries Room.

The book sale is open between 10am and 3pm each day. Club members have been collecting books since mid-

January and have a great number of new books for the public to purchase.

The donated books are sorted into categories to make selecting your favourite books easier.

The categories include fiction sorted in author sections, military, history, travel, gardening, cooking, religion, business and many other categories, as well as a selection of DVDs and other items.

The sale has been organised by the 'Wayne Lovell Memorial Health Care Project' subcommittee of the Lions Club, with proceeds towards purchase of health-care equipment for the community nurses working in the Huon Valley.

The Lions Club of Huon look forward to seeing a great crowd to support this very worthy community cause.

Kingborough Real Estate Guide

Kingston Beach lifestyle on a grand scale

Composed without compromise along one of Kingston Beach's most tightly held locations, this breathtaking family residence displays unsurpassed luxury and sophisticated designer style.

Spectacularly well-proportioned first floor living and entertaining areas provide sweeping cinematic views over Kingston Beach, the Derwent River, Bonnet Hill, and Eastern Shore.

This multigenerational home with its wide passageways and high ceilings showcases a palette of high-end finishes and invites natural light to pour in from all sides.

The unmatched sense of scale is underscored by the top floors open-plan living, dining and alfresco entertainment zones taking full advantage of a privileged outlook with a mass of picture windows.

A chef-inspired kitchen caters impeccably to any gourmet challenge with the utmost ergonomics and entertaining ease with professional appliances, a full butler's pantry with storage and functionality to entertain on a grand scale.

Wonderfully designed to allow each family member and guest their own space, the home's practical layout branches off into a second living zone warmed in winter by a cosy wood heater.

The dedicated home office or gym positioned adjacent to the opulent master bedroom features an ensuite with a luxurious twin vanity, walk-in shower, relaxing bath and an unbelievable fully fitted out walk-in robe and dressing room with an island bench.

The powder room is conveniently located and is adjacent to a custom-built laundry with a large amount of practical storage for linen, adequate bench space, drying racks and much more.

The additional accommodation is on the ground floor, serviced by a luxurious and well-appointed bathroom, on this level there are two bedrooms both with water views, built-in robes and direct access to a patio.

If you have an interest in wines then take advantage of the newly fitted out wine cellar, which maintains a constant temperature all year round.

Internal access to the 6.2m x 5m studio/workshop or future games room and double garage is off the main entry.

This is an incredible opportunity on a grand scale where a union of form and function is prominent from the moment you arrive.

MARGATE

Merediths Orchard supply the best in local fruit and vegetables, meat, dairy, grocery items and much more. (PS)

Merediths Orchard, Margate is under new ownership of Rhylon Sykes and Elli Pearce. Rhylon and Elli are familiar faces to the local area, having worked in the business with the previous owner for a number of years. (PS)

Children at Margate Primary School have been engaging in a new form of learning, challenging them to tell their own stories. (PS)

Storytelling at Margate Primary

At Margate Primary School, they have observed that a class of children listen to a story more intently when you are telling them in person.

No book as a prop, just a group of people who sit together. They not only remember the story, but are able to connect with it, share it later, and meld it seamlessly into their own stories.

The power of this is such that they have devoted a specialist program to storytelling, or 'Story Circles.'

Sitting on First Nations designed mats in one of the many beautiful bush spaces at the school they work in groups to learn and demonstrate storytelling techniques.

They are often interrupted by curious yellow-tailed black cockatoos or one of their much-loved school chickens trying to lay an egg.

Other extensions of this learning are literacy programs, including 'Stories under Kunanyi' and 'Words Make Me Fly' which are designed to challenge and extend small groups of students to write or tell their stories.

'Stories Under Kunanyi' students learn from their Aboriginal education worker as well as the storytelling teacher, a published author, to use First Nations culture as a backdrop for telling stories.

These include using symbols and making stories in the sand and shell-stringing using beads as a way to retell important life moments.

'Words Make Me Fly' is aimed at extending groups of avid creative writers to give them skills and build enjoyment of writing which the school hopes will be life-long.

It is taught through a platform of learning about the desert in Central Australia, exposing Tasmanian kids to a very different landscape and inspiring them through the bellows of male emus, the feel of eagle claws or running their hands through the rich red sands of the desert.

These diverse programs aim to give all students a chance to shine and share their voices with the world.

Students who voice their opinions on the storytelling comment that, "I like how we get to share stories and speak, and no-one judges you" and, "I like being able to share some really special stories that are going to stay with me my whole life."

Children sit on First Nations designed mats in one of the many beautiful bush spaces at the school. (PS)

Beehive Playcentre

Beehive Playcentre is a not-for-profit community run pre-kinder, based in Margate.

The program supports 3- to 5-year-olds to learn pre-kindergarten skills, in a caring and stimulating environment with a qualified teacher and aide.

Beehive Playcentre educators are passionate about child-led, play-based early childhood learning experiences, and the natural environment plays an important role in every session.

"Our vision is to promote creative and independent thinking, and to provide an exciting place where children can explore the rich possibilities of childhood," explained the Beehive team.

"Beehives is on run on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday's 9 am to 1pm, in conjunction with the school terms.

"The Wednesday sessions have a particular focus on those children who will be starting kinder in 2024.

"All of the children at Beehive are viewed as competent, capable, creative, responsible, resourceful and resilient.

"If you would like more information, have a question, or would like to register your interest, please head to our website beehiveplaycentre.com.au or email us at beehiveplaycentre@gmail.com.

Roadworks have blocked much of the Kingston town centre temporarily to cars; here is the view of the new roadworks down Hutchins Street, just opposite the Kingston Police Station.

Large construction fences have been erected, stretching from the corner of Hutchins Street to John Street.

Traffic is restricted, though pedestrians still have access to all businesses in the affected zone.

Construction on this section is expected to take approximately 10 weeks from the initial start date of Tuesday, February 28.

Celebrating our Talented Youth

To kick off Youth Week in Tasmania, Kingborough Council is hosting its first ever Youth Talent Show, Kingborough's Got Talent, on Saturday, April 29.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said Kingborough's young people demonstrated their amazing diversity of talent at auditions held in March.

"We received over 35 applications, with young people displaying dancing, singing, music, drama and even circus skills," Cr Wriedt said.

"I'm really proud of everyone who has boldly stepped up to show us their talents.

"Finalists will take part in the showcase performance, Kingborough's Got Talent, at the end of April, in front of a panel of well-known judges.

"We know this will be a memorable night for the whole community to enjoy, with special guest MC John X sure to keep the crowd entertained between acts.

"For those performing, there are some great prizes on offer, including first prize of $1000 in the winner's choice of gift vouchers.

"Kingston High School students have offered to help with backstage roles on the night.

"The talent show will officially kick off Youth Week in Tasmania, to be held between 1 and 7 May, and aligns with this year's theme, Acceptance: Be Bold. Be You.

"We want as many people as possible supporting our talented young people, so be bold and book your tickets now!"

Tickets can be booked online by visiting Council's Events page.

St James College's broad curriculum instils curiosity and motivates students to learn and grow. The development of good character and a determination to succeed are hallmarks of St James' students. (PS)

Set in the heart of Cygnet surrounded by the beautiful Huon Valley, St James is a vibrant connected community that welcomes students from Kindergarten through to Year 10. (PS)
