

Learning centre is coming to Longley

Wheelhouse Tas Inc is opening Tasmania's first self-directed learning centre (SDL) in Lower Longley on July 24.

Co-founder Marion Thomas said they decided to base the centre in Lower Longley as it is easily accessible to both upper Channel and Huon Valley teenagers on the bus route.

Marion spent most of her childhood in Kingborough but has since lived in many places, both within Australia and abroad.

She has a diverse background which includes disability support and literacy-oriented roles.

Wheelhouse's other co-founder Mel Storey is experienced in starting up non-profit organisations, is a foster carer and an enthusiastic self-directed learner herself.

"While some children thrive in school, we could see many children, especially teenagers, were craving an alternative," Marion said.

"For some, it's a craving for somewhere homely and safe, with a sense of community.

"For others it is a longing to run with their strengths and interests, which may be highly academic, creative, and/or more hands-on than traditional schools allow."

Co-founders Marion Thomas and Mel Storey are opening Tasmania's first self-directed learning centre in Lower Longley on July 24. (PS)

Planning reform

Later this year, Kingborough will undergo planning reform with the incoming Tasmanian Planning Scheme expected to be publicly exhibited (community consultation).

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said the Tasmanian Government is moving to a single planning scheme, known as the Tasmanian Planning Scheme.

"Until the Tasmanian Planning Commission (TPC) instructs Council to begin the exhibition period (community consultation), Council can only provide the information that was submitted to the TPC in 2019," Cr Wriedt said.

"The single planning scheme is intended to create uniformity in planning across Tasmania and the process is overseen and managed by the State Government.

"To ensure our community is aware of the future reform, Council has sent out a brochure with everyone's rates notices directing community members to our website to get more information on the reform.

"The website will be updated with additional information as we get closer to the exhibition period.

"We appreciate that the process is complicated, and we want to provide more information about the zoning changes to the community, but at the moment, we are unable to until there is direction from the TPC.

"If we were to promote it before that time it would lead to confusion within the community as further changes could occur.

"Once exhibition begins later in the year, the community will also be able to make written representations to indicate support for and/or raise objections or concerns with any planning changes proposed."

A photo of a swift parrot taken by Rob Blakers, who was recently arrested. (PS)

Get with the times, end native forest logging

Dear Editor,

World renowned photographer Rob Blakers was arrested in the Eastern Tiers, Tasmania, defending the precious habitat of swift parrots.

Rob has identified the area he was arrested in as having had an exceptional swift parrot breeding season last summer.

It is insane that Sustainable Timber Tasmania (STT) still logs native forests when most of the mainland states have either ceased native forest logging entirely or are in the process of ending the climate-destructive industry completely.

Federal Environment Minister Tanya Plibersek has promised to end species extinctions in Australia, but this target cannot be achieved unless she intervenes in Tasmania's outdated practice of native forest logging.

Shame on the Tasmanian forestry industry for continued logging of swift parrot habitat.

With years of conservation experience, Suzette

Weeding of STT is aware that clearing of high-quality breeding and foraging habitat has been a key driver of swift parrot population declines over the last 150 years, and that leaving a handful of trees in a forestry coupe will do nothing to support the critically endangered parrot.

Get with the times and end native forest logging for swift parrots.

Living in such a caring community

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank everyone who stopped to help me on a Saturday afternoon in Kingston on the Channel Highway.

After I sprained my ankle and fell flat on the footpath, I was soon surrounded by a number of concerned people who checked my ankle and helped me to my feet.

Then Gavin, who is a local dentist, drove me home and offered to help me if I needed anything more.

It is heartwarming and reassuring that we live in such a caring community.

Thank you so much, everyone!
I am recovering well after applying the recommended First Aid - Rest, Ice, Compression, and Elevation.

Such an inspiring act

Dear Editor

What a beautiful report on the charity project built in Kingston.

Out of an incredible tragedy, the Lyden family and their subcontractors and suppliers have donated so generously to Variety Tasmania.

That in their grief, they were able to think of others, is such an inspiring act and gives one hope for humanity.

As an ordinary resident of Kingston, I thank you all for your amazing generosity.

The Kingston Probus Club recently celebrated their 40th anniversary. Senator Catryna Bilyk delivered a speech and presented a framed certificate to club president Len Lambeth to mark the occasion. The longest serving member of 36 years, Ross Preston, was invited to cut the anniversary cake. “Probus clubs provide an opportunity for retirees to get together,” Senator Bilyk said. “Their mission of providing ‘fun, friendship and fellowship’ is so important for the mental health and wellbeing of members.” (PS)

New equipment for Dru Point playground

New play equipment has been installed for everyone to enjoy at Dru Point Bicentennial Park in Margate.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said the playground now has a new double flying fox, netting hammock swing and Orbit rope climbing frame.

“This park is very well loved by our community, and I’m really pleased that we have been able to update the equipment to better suit creative play now and into the future,” Cr Wriedt said.

“The Dru Point Masterplan pointed out that some of the equipment in the park was outdated and needed to be more challenging for older children.

“The new double flying fox and rope climbing structure replaces the old teen appropriate equipment and will be popular for the older children using the park.

“The rope climbing area has smooth rubber soft fall with connection to the existing DDA path network and provides more inclusive access play opportunities.

“Future works will include extending the pathway networks and upgrading the tennis court area for community use.”

Long-term healthcare plan

The Tasmanian Government has recently released the final version of the Long-Term Plan for Healthcare in Tasmania 2040.

The final version of the Long-Term Plan incorporates feedback received during the public consultation on the exposure draft of the document.

Premier and Minister for Health Jeremy Rockliff said the release of the final version of the Long-Term Plan was an important milestone in the government's health reform agenda.

"The Long-Term Plan outlines how our government will deliver, in partnership with the Tasmanian community, its plan for all Tasmanians to be supported by a world-class, innovative and integrated health system," the Premier said.

"Our Plan will see a more connected health system that meets the needs of Tasmanians now, and into the future."

"We are committed to building a sustainable health system and we will do this by connecting care across acute, subacute, rehabilitation, mental health, primary care, and care in the community."

"This includes in key areas such as supporting the health of older Tasmanians and the use of health navigators to assist people in accessing the services they need."

"The Plan is supported by regionalised profiles which identify the needs of each region for enhancement and expansion and subsequent priorities, and how they will be delivered over the next five years."

Progress toward the Long-Term Plan is already underway, through key initiatives including the 10-year digital health transformation strategy, hospital masterplanning, and 20-year infrastructure planning.

Other key initiatives that are underway or soon to commence include:

- The development of central virtual care hubs;
- Equitable access to endoscopy with $38 million to deliver an additional 22,000 endoscopy procedures by 2027;
- Implementing nurse-led clinics to address growing outpatient care demand and reduce wait times for public outpatient services;
- Masterplan work for the St John's Park Health Precinct; and
- Masterplan work for district hospitals and community health centres.

The final versions of the Long-Term Plan, Clinical Services Profiles and further information on the Our Healthcare Future reforms are available at: www.health.tas.gov.au/ourhealthcarefuture

Men’s Shed hold scam protection webinar

Channel Men’s Shed recently held a live online webinar hosted by the Australian Government eSafety Commissioner.

The subject of the one-hour presentation was ‘Protecting Yourself Against Scams’. This was part of the Australian Government’s Be Connected Presentations, an initiative to educate older Australians on using technology safely and with confidence. The webinar was attended by 24 enthusiastic members and partners. President of Channel Men’s Shed Peter Norris said depending on interest, the Shed may hold more sessions, or else members or the public can register and participate as individuals.

In loving memory

Reinee Yates (née Mason) passed away on May 26, 2023 at Snug Village in her 109th year. She was possibly the Channel’s oldest ever resident. For most of her adult life she worked in the family shop at Middleton, except for during World War II when she served in the 2nd Signals Unit intercepting Japanese coded messages. She told no-one of this until 2015. In 2016 she was awarded a Bletchley Park Commemorative badge for being part of this service. The Channel Museum has compiled a small tribute to Reinee which can be found in the library.

ROADSIDE SPRAYING PROGRAM

To maintain roadside vegetation, Council undertakes a spraying program within both urban and rural areas of Kingborough, using Government approved herbicides.

As part of the program, Council invites residents to apply for their property frontage to be added to the No Spray Register for the 2022-2024 period. The current period is at the halfway point, and those who may have missed applying are invited to do so.

Visit www.kingborough.tas.gov.au/forms/no-spray to view the No Spray Register Guidelines and submit a request to be included on the register.

The request form is also available from the Civic Centre in Kingston and the Bruny Island Service Centre.

Where Council approves a frontage for inclusion within the No Spray Register, it will be the applicant’s responsibility to manage the roadside vegetation within the No Spray Zone, in accordance with the permit issued by Council.

Applications must be lodged with Council by Monday 31 July 2023.

Taking the icy plunge for cost-of-living

Politicians, chefs, churches, service clubs, family and friends took a bracing winter dip in June to mark the Winter Solstice and raise money to support many struggling Tasmanians finding themselves unable to access safe and nutritious food, especially during the current cost-of-living crisis.

The annual Loaves and Fishes Tasmania Solstice Splashes were held at Greens Beach and Kingston Beach recently. Loaves and Fishes is the state's largest local emergency food provider.

They aimed to raise $80,000 from two swims to help deliver safe, nutritious food when people need it most.

This year's swims provide support for expanding food production and collectively producing 9000 meals per week for Tasmanians.

With their initial contribution of $50, Splashers also gained sponsorship support to brave the icy Tasmanian waters for a three-minute Winter Solstice dip.

The UTAS Tasmania Project Cost of Living Survey showed one-in-two Tasmanians are skipping meals, buying food on credit, and reducing or cutting out fresh fruit and vegetables due to budget pressures.

Loaves and Fishes CEO Andrew Hillier said while the swims were meant to be a fun community event, they were designed to produce some discomfort so participants could identify with those who are frequently cold and hungry.

"A record number of Tasmanians are going without food, sometimes for days, due to cost-of-living pressures," he said.

"Many of those who are finding themselves hungry and needing help for the first time in their lives have jobs, but simply can't keep pace with rising food, rent and mortgage costs.

"Then there are those who are chronically disadvantaged, those relying on inadequate welfare payments, who suffer from sickness, have disabilities, and are homeless or sleeping rough."

Loaves and Fishes partnered with Kingston Beach Surf Lifesaving Club and Launceston Surf Lifesaving Club for the annual Solstice Splashes.

Surveys suggest half of all Tasmanians are experiencing food insecurity. (PS)

Christian College exchange

Many years ago, Southern Christian College began to forge cultural links with one of our nearest neighbours, Indonesia.

There have been visits between students from Southern Christian College and those from schools in Indonesia. However, since COVID, intercultural exchanges had been placed on pause. In 2018 a small group of Indonesians from the international organisation 'Fusion', whose mission is to work amongst the youth in their local area based upon Christian values, visited several locations around Tasmania. One of those visits was to Southern Christian College. Friendships forged during that visit have continued to this day. Ibu Roselina, a core leader of the group who runs Fusion's Global English course in the city of Kabanjahe, Sumatra is one such long-standing friend. Earlier this year, Ibu Roselina contacted Pak Rory Campbell, an Indonesian teacher at Southern Christian College. She proposed that a small group of her language students come to Tasmania for an immersive visit to the school. From that initial conversation with the languages department, staff and students from Southern Christian College together with the College Principal, Jodie Bennett, welcomed the group to the school last month. The group spent two weeks experiencing the life of a typical Australian student at the school, as well as travelling to various places of interest.

1950s beachside classic gem

This 1950s gem offers the perfect blend of timeless charm and comfort that will make everyone feel instantly at home.

With three living areas, four bedrooms and two bathrooms over two levels, this property is tailor-made for families seeking a spacious and sundrenched beachside haven, with the added potential of extended family living.

Enter through the covered, paved courtyard and step inside to be greeted by the inviting warmth of the original timber floors and French doors leading from the lounge to the living room.

The generous living area has an airy ambience and boasts expansive windows that bathe the space in natural light and all-day sun.

The kitchen is a true delight, with an inviting vintage charm.

Imagine preparing delicious meals on the retro, apple-green countertops, surrounded by classic, timber cabinetry that adds a touch of nostalgia.

Whether you're hosting a gathering of friends or family, or enjoying a casual breakfast, this kitchen as part of the living area is the heart of the home with views extending to glimpses of the Derwent, across Browns River and the Kingston Beach Golf course, then to Mount Wellington.

A generous adjoining pantry area provides ample storage and convenient access, perfect for organising and storing all your kitchen essentials.

Retreat to the master bedroom, where tranquillity awaits.

This beautiful big room offers an abundance of space for relaxation and features extra-large picture windows, providing yet another soothing treed outlook across the river and the golf course.

Two additional bedrooms plus a study on this level offer versatility for a growing family, a home office, or a hobby room. Downstairs, with its own access, is another bedroom, living room, bathroom, and kitchenette.

This area opens out to a sundeck for summer entertaining.

Situated on a 994m² block, the garden area beckons you to unwind and soak up the sun.

Surrounded by lush greenery, mature fruit trees, and cottage gardens, the expansive yard provides endless possibilities for outdoor activities, gardening, or simply enjoying the sun and fresh coastal breeze.

There is extensive shedding, under house storage and a carport, as well as plenty of off-street parking.

A generous solar array helps reduce power costs.

Location is key, and this property shines in that regard.

Situated within walking distance to Kingston Beach, you'll have easy access to one of Tasmania's most picturesque coastlines.

Stroll along the golden sands to the dog beach, hike the Allum Cliffs, enjoy popular beachside cafes and restaurants, or take a dip in the sparkling waters year-round if you're game.

Embrace the lifestyle while still being within proximity to essential amenities, schools, and parks in Kingston, and a short 15-minute commute to Hobart.

Don't miss the opportunity to make this 1950s treasure your own.

With its timeless charm, comforts, and enviable location, this property is a rare find.

Supporting connections with other local families

Catholic education 'SETUP for Success' (SETUP) birth to five programs recognise the development that takes place in children during the first thousand days of their lives shapes the way their brains, bodies and emotions develop through life.

The 'Explorers' SETUP program at St Aloysius Catholic College runs weekly during term times and welcomes any families from the local community.

Since the program was formed in 2017, they have seen how much the children and families have been supported and developed in connections with other families.

Each week, the Explorers program provides age-appropriate activities and an environment where families can engage with their children in supporting their development and building relationships with other families.

The weekly sessions take place in the Convent Cottage, at the Junior Campus, running for one and a half hours each session.

On occasion, the program utilises the bush play space on the school campus grounds, or goes out into the community on excursions to the Kingborough Gymnastics centre or local playgrounds.

All activities are free of charge to families.

For further information, please visit the College website www.staloyisus.tas.edu.au/birth-to-five-explorers

As further a commitment to providing a quality paint finish to their customers is that all painters are Certificate III qualified, and all fully insured. The paint supplier of Bob De Groot Painting Services Pty Ltd, Haymes Paints, are a wholly Australian owned company, who offer a 5-year paint warranty for all projects that are painted to manufacturers standards!

One of the feature products that Bob de Groot Painting Services Pty Ltd use regularly is Crackgon. This is used on both the interior and exterior of properties and has the ability to eliminate unsightly hairline cracks. Crackgon enables a smooth finish on old walls and prevents them from reopening, caused by the continual movement of substrates, both internally and externally.
