Snug Village Garden open

Snug Village Garden was officially opened on Thursday, July 20.

Her Excellency the Honourable Barbara Baker AC, Kingborough Lions Club's David Hopkins and Christian Homes Tasmania (CHT) board president Mark Hochman unveiled a plaque together to commemorate the special day.

Two engraved Huon Pine plaques have been mounted on the entrance wall that list the donors and companies who have helped bring this garden to life.

Lions Club International celebrated 75 years' operation in Australia last year, challenging its clubs to create commemorative gardens to mark this anniversary.

Kingborough Lions Club saw an opportunity to refurbish the garden at the rear of Snug Village's aged dementia units.

The area was fully enclosed, overgrown and neglected.

CHT and a small project team of Kingborough Lions worked out a plan to create a new garden for the residents to enjoy.

The result is a garden that encourages its visitors to relax and reminisce, with memory objects such as a bright red telephone box and bus shelter dotted around for residents to admire along with trees and sensory shrubbery.

The bus shelter was created by the Channel Men's Shed, led by their president Peter Norris.

Tas Aqua built a special garden bed raised in height to accommodate wheelchairs and walkers for perennial planting by residents.

A team of Lions and CHT staff worked together to then mulch and plant shrubbery in the rejuvenated garden beds.

The speeches delivered by Governor Baker, Lions president Robert Hazell and CHT board president Mark Hochman at the opening acknowledged the large community that has helped in creating this garden.

"The small working committee of Ken Hughes, Rob Batchelor and I found it an absolute pleasure to work with Neal, Luke and Scott from Snug Village under the guidance of Christian Homes Property and Compliance Manager Shelly Gleeson in a project that will give immense pleasure to the aged residents at the Home," said Lion David Hopkins.

Kingborough supports local government reform

At a recent council meeting, Kingborough Council voted to support ongoing local government reform, and to further collaborate with the Huon Valley Council on the potential to create one new council south of Hobart.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said the Tasmanian Government was currently undertaking the Future of Local Government Review.

"The Review provides a unique opportunity to reshape what local government looks like, whilst addressing sustainability challenges and growing demands," Cr Wriedt said.

"To stimulate debate, the Local Government Board collaborated with the University of Tasmania to develop several catchment-based local government scenarios.

"One of the scenarios presented, Southern Shore Scenario Two, would see an amalgamation of the Kingborough and Huon Valley Councils.

"Council decision saw a submission provided to the Board, informing them of our support for collaboration with Huon Valley Council."

Southern Shore Scenario Two increases the population base to approximately 59,000 residents, enabling economies of scale and better service delivery for residents.

"Council voted to keep open the potential of Taroona being added into our capital city catchment scenarios and proposed to explore the establishment of a Bruny Island board as an alternative model of governance," Cr Wriedt said.

"A board model for Bruny Island, similar to how Lord Howe Island is governed, would be managed by the state government.

"Local government reform provides a unique opportunity to reshape the Tasmanian local government sector and Council is ready to collaborate with our neighbours to achieve the best possible outcomes for our residents."

Premier Jeremy Rockliff recently announced amalgamation would be up to the councils.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Governments should be listening

Dear Editor,
More power to veterinarian Dr Colette Harmsen!
She has bravely protested peacefully, many times, against the destruction of native forests in Tasmania and has now been jailed for her efforts.
All governments in our colony cannot be trusted to govern to protect our land, water and native creatures.

These governments (and thus many politicians in government, of course) allow big profit-making corporations to wield too much power, undermining any chance we have of living in a democracy.
Putting people like Dr Harmsen in jail is not okay.
Governments ought to be listening to the 16-year-olds in the colony.

You know, the young people.
The ones who can drive cars but who do not have the right to vote.
"Our house is on fire," said Greta Thunberg, aged 16, in 2019.

Cancellation of Targa 2023

Targa Australia recently announced it will suspend all future motorsport-based events until the full ramifications of Motorsport Australia's review into tarmac rallying can be quantified and assessed.

This means that Targa Tasmania and Targa Great Barrier Reef 2023 have been cancelled.

Leg six of Targa Tasmania has in the past gone through Longley and Peverata.

The safety review process has been going for 15 months, and the uncertainty and duration of this review process has seen a record drop in entry numbers.

Over 80 per cent of tour participants withdrew in response to the reduction of the Targa tour speed to 110km/h.

"Our events can only be run with the support of our loyal participants, and on the whole, they are understandably disenchanted with the current landscape, and we completely understand why," said Targa CEO Mark Perry.

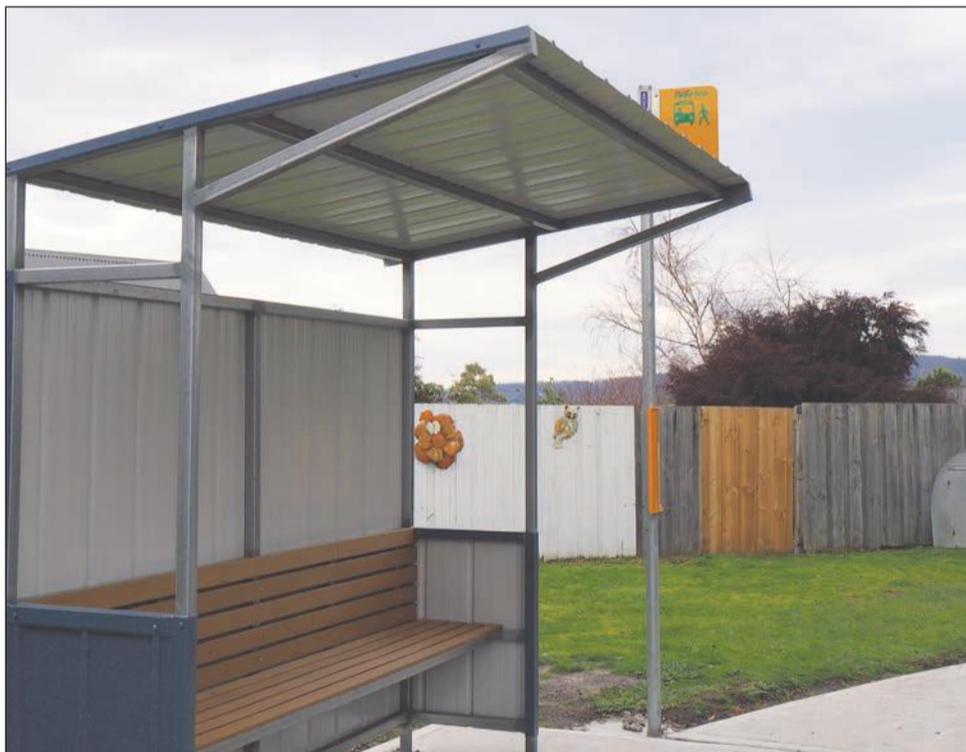

"We have waited and been incredibly patient with the process put in place, however this process has now taken a year longer than similar reviews in the past.

"Competitors have little certainty with what the future looks like for them and are rightly holding off on entering our events.

"In turn, we have had to make the difficult but necessary decision to cancel our 2023 events and undertake our own review and assessment on the future viability of our iconic rallies.

"While it is another sad day for everyone involved in Targa, we must now explore every conceivable option available to us to ensure the survival of Targa and the return of the ultimate tarmac rally, Targa Tasmania in April 2024."

Targa Australia will make further announcements as they are finalised.

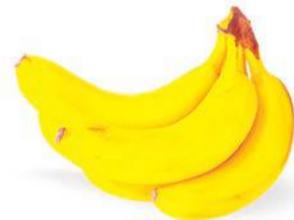

The bus shelter for the garden was constructed by Channel Men's Shed, led by their president Peter Norris.

Taking the politics out of planning

In a recently released statement, Premier Jeremy Rockliff, the Acting Minister for Planning, said "The Tasmanian Government will take the politics out of planning decisions to improve certainty, transparency and the effectiveness of planning across Tasmania".

New legislation will be introduced to allow some planning decisions to be made by independent expert Development Assessment Panels (DAP).

Under the proposal, proponents would be able to opt-in and choose whether a council or a panel makes the final decision on their project.

Similarly, councils would also have the option of referring the final decision, enabling them to better advocate for their community.

Panels would be determined by the independent Tasmanian Planning Commission.

"We will take the politics out of planning by ensuring that decisions are driven by the rules and not the vested interests or personal biases of individual councillors," Premier Rockliff said.

"There's too many examples where critical land, housing or other projects are being stopped or delayed by ideologically motivated, party-aligned councillors, and this is not good for Tasmania."

The Local Government Association Tasmania (LGAT) also released a statement, saying "The government's statement of significant changes to how some development applications will be assessed has come as a complete surprise to the local government sector".

LGAT president Mick Tucker said "It is extremely disappointing that the Premier has made this announcement today with no prior consultation with our sector".

"The high-profile cases of councillors making controversial decisions on development applications represent a very small proportion of total developments."

The Future of Local Government Review, commissioned by the state government, reported that the proportion of council planning decisions that go to appeal is about one per cent state-wide and that the decisions made by elected representatives were no more likely to be appealed than those by council officers.

According to the Planning Matter Alliance Tasmania (PMAT) "Just three months ago, in the face of community and council opposition, the government committed to defer consultation over and consideration of this concept".

Sophie Underwood, State Director of the Planning Matters Alliance Tasmania (PMAT) said "Bypassing council takes democracy and local decision making out of planning decisions".

"This proposal is based on a flawed argument that planning is politicised by council and councillors."

"Councils have diligently performed their role as Planning Authority and if a flawed decision is made, proponents and representors have the recourse to appeal."

"This initiative will help us to deliver our target of 10,000 homes by 2030, and meet Tasmania's affordable housing needs, by reducing unnecessary delays," said Premier Rockliff.

The type and scale of projects eligible for the new process will be determined as legislation is developed, but are expected to include housing, social housing, large-scale developments and other proposals of community interest.

A value floor will also be implemented for non-prescribed project, including projects valued over $10 million in urban centres and over $5 million in rural areas.

Draft legislation will be out for consultation later this year, and it is anticipated it will be introduced to Parliament at the start of 2024.

My Teacher Aide launch

Paul Matthew, a teacher at Calvin Christian School, is also the CEO of My Teacher Aide, which launched recently and has more than 200 teachers who have applied to the program.

Mr. Matthews attributes the early success of the pilot program to the keen understanding of teachers' needs. "As a teacher myself, I understand the stress that comes with the profession," Mr Matthews said. "AI presents a real hope for stressed out teachers. We built My Teacher Aide to tackle the root of educators' issues head-on, and the overwhelming response we've received is a clear indication that our solution is not just wanted but profoundly needed."

Paul Matthew and Jacob Skierka, the founders of My Teacher Aide, are both Tasmanian high school teachers. (PS)

National Tree Day

This year, Kingborough Council will host a community planting day on National Tree Day in Apollo Bay, Bruny Island.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said this year, National Tree Day would be held on Sunday, July 30 from 10am-2pm at D'Entrecasteaux Drive, Apollo Bay, Bruny Island.

"For many years Kingborough Council has held community planting events for National Tree Day; this will be the first one on Bruny Island," Cr Wriedt said.

"Over the past 15 years, the community assisted by Council have planted over 18,000 plants on National Tree Day to restore local ecosystems.

"National Tree Day is such a great way for everyone to meet new friends and contribute to a better future for Kingborough and it is exciting that we are having a community planting day on Bruny this year.

This year's planting will help connect the coastal reserve to the forested hillside, allowing the safe passage of many of the local animals.

"This is a great family friendly event and always a fun day out in nature," Cr Wriedt said.

Everything you need is provided including hot drinks and food; all you need to do is wear good solid shoes and clothes that can get dirty.

The planting site is on D'Entrecasteaux Drive, follow the signs to the planting site.

The planting starts at 10am and goes until 2pm.

Kingston to have second Coles supermarket

Previous reported as 'Huntingfield Village', the construction scheduled to commence in early 2024 (pending council approval) is now being referred to as 'Spring Farm Village'.

Tipalea Partners has renamed its upcoming shopping centre to Spring Farm Village - a move that will better reflect what it will embody for the community, and as a nod to the neighbouring Spring Farm Road.

"We did some research, and on reflection we are really on the border of Kingston and Huntingfield, so decided that we wanted the centre's name to be distinct from the suburbs themselves," said Scott Spanton, CEO of Tipalea Partners.

"Spring Farm Village has a vibrancy that really resonates with the next-gen style shopping centre we will deliver," he said.

The $45 million Spring Farm Village will include a full solar array, EV charging stations, weather station, free wi-fi, wireless charging stations, a dedicated smart building app, cloud-based CCTV throughout, car counters, duress intercoms and a building information dashboard.

The site will have 16 supporting retailers and services including a medical centre and dental services, retail and take-away food outlets with a Coles supermarket taking up the largest footprint.

Coles has committed to open its largest supermarket in the region with a 4250 square metre store planned for Spring Farm Village.

Construction on the 3.7-hectare site and its ongoing management is set to generate more than 1200 jobs.

Tipalea Partners has a community information meeting planned for the evening of Tuesday, September 19 at the Kingborough Community Hub.

CEO and Principal of Tipalea Partners Scott Spanton said Spring Farm Village (formerly known as Huntingfield Village) is set to have the biggest Coles supermarket in the region. Pictured at the recently opened Glebe Hill Village. (PS)

Indi Way arrives in Tasmania

A new way of doing politics hits the ground for the first time in Tasmania on July 30.

The Voices of Tasmania movement's first public event will take place in Evandale.

It features guest speaker Mr Denis Ginnivan, the co-founder of the highly successful 'Voices For Indi' movement in rural Victoria.

He will speak alongside Voices of Tasmania convenor, Mr Michael Roberts, at six free public events called: The Indi Way - Let's do democracy better.

The Kingston event will be held on August 3 at the Kingborough Community Hub.

Mr Ginnivan is also a co-author of the recently published book The Indi Way that describes the journey his community went on to elect independents against the odds.

Michael Roberts said the time could not be better to launch the Voices movement in Tasmania.

"In Tasmania we have 10 new seats for the next state election, and this is the community's chance to show how democracy can really work," Mr Roberts said.

Voices of Tasmania will soon go public in calling for expressions of interest from prospective community independent candidates for the coming state and federal elections.

Mr Roberts said "Our community connection process for candidates is confidential and designed to support and develop prospective independents in the difficult choice of whether or not to run".

WOODBIDGE

Speed reduction in Woodbridge

The speed reduction for Woodbridge Hill Road was followed up by Kingborough Councillor Amanda Midgley at the recent Kingborough Council meeting on Monday, July 17.

The Director of Engineering Services confirmed they contacted the Department of State Growth (DSG) with a submission to reduce the speed limit to 70 kms per hours.

Kingborough Council is waiting on a response from DSG, with the Director of Engineering Services saying "I think it's fair to say that it's not that they are not supportive of changing the speed limit, it's just that they can't come to a point of what the speed limit should be".

Cr Midgley suggested the local community association could write a letter to help add weight to the speed limit change.

No forced amalgamations

Premier Jeremy Rockliff has said there will be no forced amalgamations. "We have listened to the concerns of Tasmanians and councils, and I want to end their fear and uncertainty," the Premier said. "The Local Government Review Board is continuing their important work, but I want to make it clear this will not result in forced amalgamations. "Communities and councils will decide their own future." Local Government Minister Nic Street said different communities have different needs, and the government's process will ensure they have the final say. "I want to provide some comfort to Tasmanians by outlining the pathway that we will follow when the Board hands down its final report on October 31," Minister Street said. "Each council will be invited to review the final report and make a submission to government about what they want. "Any plans agreed by councils will be taken to the community for a vote, to ensure it has community support to go ahead."

This means Kingborough Council's vote to merge with Huon Valley Council will be put to community members before it can be acted on. Local Government Association of Tasmania (LGAT) president Mick Tucker said "The commitment by Minister Street to work with interested councils and their communities through the next stages of reform will ensure the process delivers the appropriate change that is in the best interests of individual local areas". "Local government reform should focus on delivering what communities need in a sustainable way. "The best way to do this is to create a more robust and capable system of local government." Minister Nic Street said the level of community engagement and research undertaken by the Board had been exceptional, and their final report would provide a strong foundation for the future of local government in Tasmania. "I am confident that some councils will be eager to participate in this process, while others will not," Minister Street said.

"But, importantly, it is for councils and communities to determine and they will have the final say." Planning Matters Alliance of Tasmania (PMAT) held nine public meetings around the state and directly heard the concerns of the community, councillors and council staff about the direction the review process was heading. "This is a welcome announcement from Premier Rockliff, and we know there will be palpable relief in communities across Tasmania," said state director of PMAT Sophie Underwood. "Experience interstate is that forced council mergers deliver poor outcomes for communities and local democracy. "The meetings PMAT held across the state heard community concerns about the loss of local representation, the sell-off of council assets, dismissal of staff and loss of local identity and local decision making." ## Out-of-hours care proposal

State Labor Leader and Member for Lyons, Rebecca White, and Member for Elwick, Josh Willie were in Blackmans Bay recently to announce Labor's policy to extend After School Care.

The policy would see out-of-hours school care extended in 10 locations across the state to help Tasmanian families deal with the rising cost-of-living. This measure would come at a projected cost of $0.9 million and the locations for the extension of after-hours care and would be determined through an EOI process based on local need. The commitment comes as part of a larger package to ease the costs parents face with education and training, which also includes increasing child-care subsidies for TAFE students, automatically allowing parents to pay school fees quarterly rather than all at once and providing more support to get kids playing sport.

Lower speed limit unlikely

Community requests to lower the speed limit on the Channel Highway, Davies Road near the bus stops in Snug are unlikely to eventuate.

The issue was discussed at the recent Kingborough Council meeting during Questions without Notice from Councillors and is an issue that is continually raised. The Department of State Growth (DSG) is responsible for the highway, and there have been several areas along the Channel Highway, including this area, that they have reviewed in the past that have not changed. Director of Engineering Services said "I don't believe that they have provided anything back that has suggested a positive agreement to the changing of the speed limit". "You could continue to petition with them for changes to speed limits but once they have made a decision in terms of what it happens to be, it is probably unlikely that they will change that decision, unless there are some other factors that come into play."

Kingborough Council acknowledges diversity

The fourth flagpole, the Community Flagpole was installed at the Kingborough Council's Civic Centre in 2022.

It is reserved for the flying of flags that symbolise and celebrate the diverse community of Kingborough.

This month is Disability Pride Month which aims to increase awareness and promote understanding of the unique issues people with disability face, whilst celebrating the contributions of people with disability.

The five colours in the Disability Pride Flag symbolise:

- Red: physical disabilities
- Yellow: cognitive and intellectual disabilities
- White: invisible and undiagnosed disabilities
- Blue: mental illness
- Green: sensory perception disabilities

The faded back represents mourning and loss of life.

At the Council meeting held on July 17 the motion was carried to include the Diversity and Inclusion statement on the agenda of a future Local Government of Australia General Meeting and to place it in a prominent position at the entrance of the Civic Centre.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said "We have such a wonderful diverse community here in Kingborough with 25 per cent our residents born outside of Australia".

"Our Diversity Statement is trying reflect the increasing diversity within our community.

"It's also about recognising people with all types of disability, not just physical disability but who may be neurodiverse.

"This statement was developed through the Council's Disability Inclusion Access Advisory Committee."

Diversity and Inclusion Statement:

Kingborough Council strives to be the model of an inclusive culture where diversity of thought and background is valued.

We acknowledge, value and respect people of all cultures, sexualities, beliefs, abilities, genders and ages, and support their rights of equal access, equity and participation.

We believe diversity of thought and background, together with an inclusive work environment are critical to support every person and team to excel. We want to enable innovation for continuous improvement of service delivery.

We strive for an environment where people feel they belong, are valued as an individual, and are respected with a shared sense of fairness.

Take a class at your local library

July is the month of action at the Kingston Library.

As well as the usual activities offered by the library, the University of the Third Age (U3A) are showcasing all the courses they run, keeping in mind health, both physical and mental, creativity and friendship.

According to the 2021 census, 26.9 per cent or 10,752 people living in Kingborough are over 60 years of age.

U3A continues to support this demographic.

New members are welcome.

The classes are conducted in the old but recently renovated, well-equipped Kingston Primary School Street on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

The buildings are owned by Libraries Tasmania.

Only $50p.a membership of U3A covers you to attend as many or as few courses as you please.

Some people run from one topic to the next.

U3A are grateful to the library for the space made available for many groups to display their activities.

BRUNY

Feral cat numbers dropping on Bruny

Feral cats have proven a problem on Bruny Island for some years.

In 2016, the Federal Government funded Bruny Island (and four other Australian islands) to help eradicate and manage feral cats.

Thanks to Bruny Farming, preliminary data suggests the feral cat population on North Bruny has dropped by as much as 85 per cent.

In the past year 17 cats were trapped on private properties with the help of eight households.

Community members have proven vital to managing the feral cat population.

Cat sightings can be reported to the Feral Cat Scan app (www.feralcatscan.org.au), or directly to Kingborough Council.

Kingborough a big donor

DonateLife Week started on Sunday, July 23 and new data from the Australian Organ Donor Register (AODR) reveals the top five local government areas in Tasmania where the most people registered as donors.

In order, these are:
 1. West Coast (62 per cent)
 2. King Island (57 per cent)
 3. Hobart (56 per cent)
 4. Kingborough and Clarence (55 per cent)
 5. Dorset (54 per cent).
 A total of 4448 Tasmanians registered as organ and tissue donors in 2022, bringing the total to about 48 per cent of the Tasmanian population.
 This above the national average of 36 per cent.
 In Australia, families are always asked to support someone's decision to be a donor before this goes ahead, so make sure your loved ones are aware of your wishes.

Sadly in 2022, around 30 Australians died while wait-listed for an organ transplant.
 There are currently around 1800 people on the organ waitlist, and to help them, we need more Australians to register - and to tell their family their wishes.

57 Tasmanians received a transplant last year, and 18 Tasmanians who died became donors.
 Anyone aged 16 and over can sign up online.

It doesn't matter how old you are, your medical history, your lifestyle, what country you're from or how healthy you are - you can still register as an organ and tissue donor in just one minute at donateliferegistry.gov.au or with three taps in your Medicare app.

Help others live their lives at Huon Regional Care

For over 50 years, Huon Regional Care has been helping people live their life, just the way they love it and providing Tasmanians with the care, dignity and respect they deserve.

And they wouldn't be able to do it without volunteers. Their residential homes at Franklin and Dover are currently seeking volunteers to assist with their Leisure and Lifestyle program.

No prior volunteering experience is necessary, and the amount of time you contribute is entirely up to you.

As a volunteer, you can share a wide variety of passions and skills with the residents including but not limited to:

- Individual walks and visits with residents
- Men's group activities
- Gardening
- Bingo

- Knitting group
- Arts and crafts
- Musical entertainment
- Pet therapy
- Beauty services

Volunteering at Huon Regional Care is tailored to you and your interests.

Personal benefits can include a sense of belonging, giving back to the community, helping others, and a sense of being valued.

More importantly, you can make a big difference to the life of someone else.

What could be more rewarding?

TINDERBOX

Baby kelp planting and study at Tinderbox

Project leader Professor Craig Johnson and the team are in full kelp farming mode following the Tasmanian Government issuing a scientific permit to deploy marine infrastructure and kelp species as part of a pivotal research program on growing kelp.

Professor Johnson said "If done correctly, growing kelp at a commercial scale can yield significant positive environmental outcomes as well as positive social and economic results".

The site is located south of Blackmans Bay and north of the Tinderbox Reserve in southern Tasmania.

This area is prime research real estate and adjacent to a wastewater treatment plant so in nutrient-rich waters and is being used for research into developing new technologies and systems to support potential sustainable, commercial-scale offshore kelp production in Tasmania's temperate waters and beyond.

Phase One of the research was completed in June with infrastructure deployment consisting of three small rings and an underwater array, followed by the successful planting of microscopic kelp on lines.

Now the project team and local community wait for what is hoped to be 10-12 metres of kelp growth in just 12 months.

First Alexander Technique graduates of Tasmania

The first graduates of Alexander Technique teachers in FM Alexander's home state are about to graduate on August 5, 2023.

They are Alethea Coombe, Craig Penney and Kingston local Jem Nicholas.

Until three years ago there were no training courses to train teachers in Tasmania.

Alexander Technique lessons reduce tension in repetitive and/or strenuous activities, such as bending, lifting or typing, and in skilled activities, including dance, music, acting and sport.

Scientific studies have demonstrated that applying the Alexander Technique will consistently lead to reduction in chronic pain for people with musculoskeletal pain conditions.

FM Alexander was born in Wynyard, Tasmania in 1869.

He was the founder of the Alexander Technique, which is practiced by thousands of people, taught by over 4000 teachers in 31 countries around the world.

He was recognised as one of 200 People Who Made Australia Great, in the book of that title published for the Australian Bicentennial Celebrations in 1988.

In 2018 AUSTAT approved Head of Training of Harmonic Motion Alexander Technique Teacher Training Course, Penny McDonald moved back home to Tasmania.

In 2020 she commenced the training of three teachers. "The course is 1600 hours over three years; it is a long and intensive training," Ms McDonald said.

"I am so proud of the skilled and amazing teachers they have become."

While many people come to the Alexander Technique for help with back pain, for which it has been proven to be beneficial, the freedom and ease that people gain from learning this simple technique covers a wide scope.

Do not risk a fall, call Gutter-Vac

Gutter-Vac Southern Tasmania offers a professional and courteous vacuum cleaning service for commercial and domestic gutters, roofs, solar panels, downpipes, storm water drains, and lots more.

Gutter cleaning is a task that is required all year round. Different areas are prone to requiring a clean at certain times of the year due to weather conditions, trees in the vicinity and the type of tree it is.

Winter in Tasmania is a busy time for us with the rain and the autumn and winter leaves falling.

It is not just trees though.

Moss builds up in the gutters due to the significant amount of moisture and limited sunlight that gets into the gutters.

"To clean your gutters, we use a specialised vacuum system that gets rid of leafy debris and removes mud, dirt and sludge that sits in the bottom of your gutters," explained Therese Dobson, owner of Gutter-Vac Southern Tasmania.

"It's the sludge that can cause serious problems, not only with overflowing or blocked gutters, but also with rust and long-lasting irreparable damage.

"We remove and clean it all, which means your gutters can do the job that they were intended for."

In recognition for their dedication to customer satisfaction, Gutter Vac Southern Tasmania were presented as winners for Franchisee of the Year 2018 and Customer Service Award 2022, from a total of more than 80 other franchisees Australia-wide.

For the Dobsons and their team, safety is always key when it comes to working at heights on potentially dangerous surfaces.

"It might seem like a good idea to grab a ladder and clean your gutters yourself, but without the required training, it can be dangerous," said Therese.

"Many accidents around the home occur on a ladder, saving a few dollars on professional gutter cleaning isn't worth the risk of injury."

Do not risk a fall, give Gutter-Vac Southern Tasmania a call on 1300 654 253.

Preparation for summer crops

The photo of a winter bed at the Kingston Community Garden shows what you can do with good planning and preparation.

Winter is a good time to prepare for the year ahead. At the Garden some beds are laden with luscious greens, some are growing green manure crops ready to be dug in and some are 'resting', waiting for spring.

But if you want early summer crops and year around cropping you should be getting ready, like Rosie, our head composter who is cooking up a great mix ready for spring.

Whatever your method, early planning and preparation helps, and this is where the Community Garden has been busy and can assist.

We are preparing for our annual and very popular Spring Seedling Sale, on Sunday, October 22, 10am to 3pm at the Garden, 12-14 Gormley Drive (near the sportsgrounds).

Keep a lookout for information on Facebook or at: www.kingstoncommunitygarden.asn.au

Garden president Chris Keen and a team of gardeners will be there selling tomato and a huge variety of other seedlings and will be happy to do tours of the garden, chat about garden matters and answer any questions.

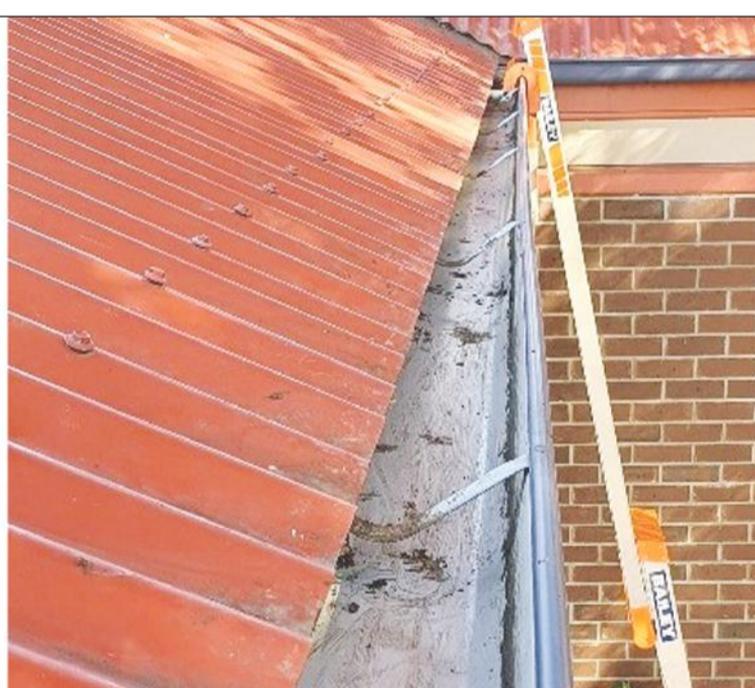

We are not all expert gardeners but are enthusiastic and keen to promote and learn about healthy organic gardening in the community.

Chris would be especially keen to hear from anyone who would be interested in coordinating or assisting the development from scratch of a new garden area dedicated to growing year-round vegies as a community service.

Our aim is to contribute to the supply of free, healthy food for distribution to people who need it.

Bird proofing that looks great

People call Gutter Knight Tasmania to solve many problems like improving tank water and installing effective ember guard, but mostly it's about keeping out the birds.

Lachlan launched Gutter Knight Tasmania with the loss of homes during the Dunalley bushfires in mind. "I wanted a premium gutter guard system for my home because I knew that falling embers were the leading cause of home loss during bushfires," said Lachlan. "I saw a business opportunity where I could provide a quality safety measure and peace of mind for Tasmanians. "Fast forward to today and we have Gutter Knight Tasmania, the experts in all things gutter guard." Gutter Knight Tasmania serves the whole state. "I love serving our community here in Tasmania," said Lachlan. ## Are birds nesting in your roof?

Spring is nearly here which means bird season is upon us.

If you've ever had birds or other vermin nesting in your roof, you'll know how frustrating this can be.

Birds have become well acquainted with urban environments, now looking to nest in residential dwellings instead of their own natural habitats.

If birds begin nesting in your roof cavity, they'll come back year after year.

Even the offspring that fully mature will come back to call your home theirs.

It can be a time-consuming exercise to get birds out of your gutters or roof cavity once they're in.

Birds can also transmit diseases to humans like severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS), and the Salmonella bacteria can be found in their droppings.

They can also carry fleas and mites, which can sometimes find their way to the occupants of a dwelling.

We recommend a proactive solution to stop birds from nesting in your roof and gutters.

Not only will Gutter Protection Solution's gutter guard system stop birds from nesting in your roof space, but they will also act as a barrier against other animals like possums, rats, mice and snakes.

Another benefit is that our gutter guard system will stop leaves, debris and other matter from building up in your gutters, preventing blockages and potential fire hazards.

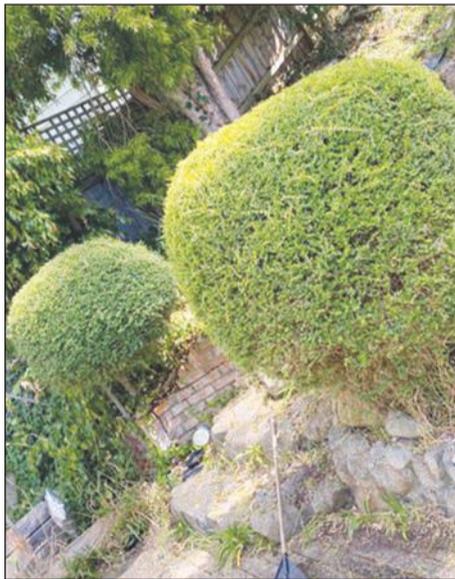

We also have a specially designed ember guard that meets national standards.

Owner and operator of Gutter Protection Solutions, Mike Smith, says the gutter guard system has been a game-changer for thousands of clients around Tasmania over the past 20 years.

"Clients often tell me that the gutter guard system we install means they haven't had to check or worry about their gutters in years," he said.

"They are comforted by the knowledge that birds and vermin won't get in, and that they don't have to spend hundreds of dollars each year on reactive measures to get these pests out, like they once did."

For a free, no-obligation quote, you can call Mike on 0428 293 619.

Snug soccer player takes on Barcelona

Snug resident Jay Dolliver recently travelled to Barcelona to represent Australia for the U16's in the Costa Brava VSport Cup, the world's biggest futsal cup.

At home, Jay plays for the Kingborough Lions NPL U21's team.

Jay was chosen to represent in the team after captaining the Tasmanian squad who played in the Nationals competition at Sydney in January earlier this year.

After a few days of training in Blanes, Spain with his U16's team, Jay was chosen by the coach to captain the squad for the first game, representing Australia in the competition.

The team faced some early losses but came back to have some incredible wins, including a 9-1 victory against Barcelona and 4-3 against Madrid, where Jay managed to score two of the goals, helping the team to make it to the semi-finals.

They had a close 1-3 loss.

Jay was supported in Barcelona, with his father, Chris, and grandfather Dean Dolliver, who used to represent Tasmania in soccer when he was younger.

Jay will continue to play both soccer and futsal and looks forward to representing his state and nation wherever possible in the future.
