

Six Tasmanian teachers received the prestigious Hardie Fellowship, including Kingston High School's Rosalie Hayek (far right). Inclusive Practice Team Lead for Department for Education, Children and Young People (DECYP) Grant Maynard, DECYP Inclusive Learning Manager Fiona Hancock, Assistant Principal at Howrah Primary School Anita Blom, Senior Curriculum Leader for Aboriginal Education Services Ruby Lyons-Reid and Advanced Skills Teacher at Sheffield School Marya Bell joined Rosalie as the 2023 Hardie Fellowship recipients. Kingston teacher joins fellowship

Kingston High School teacher Rosalie Hayek is one of six Tasmanian teachers to receive the prestigious Hardie Fellowship.

The fellowship allows its recipients to pursue professional learning and tertiary study in the United States of America.

Rosalie is an inclusive practice teacher and will be using this fellowship to investigate ways to develop trauma-informed skills in teachers and inclusive practice, particularly with regard to neurodiverse students.

The Hardie Fellowship was established by Professor Charles Dunn Hardie who was appointed Dean of Education at the University of Tasmania in 1946 and remained there until his retirement in 1976.

He was internationally recognised for his contribution to education.

Following his death in 2002, a generous bequest of $7.5 million from his estate enabled the Hardie Fellowship to be established.

Minister for Education, Children and Youth Roger Jaensch said the honour is awarded to teachers who have demonstrated excellence in their practice, offering both immediate and future benefits to public education and Tasmania's students.

"This year's Hardie Fellowship recipients are all highly accomplished and will undertake study with global leaders in their fields, gaining access to world-class innovation and thinking and developing important global networks and links," Minister Jaensch said.

"Hardie Fellowship recipients contribute enormously to the growth and practice of education professionals across Tasmania, with new learnings and strategies being shared among our teachers to encourage best practice.

"I congratulate all of this year's recipients and wish them all the best for their studies."

Margate state kart champion

Wil Cairns, 9, from Margate, took out the State Title at the Tasmanian Kart Championship held at the Southern Tasmanian Kart Club at Orierton on November 26.

Wil competed in the Cadet 9 class which is for racers between the ages of seven and nine.

Wil was coming second to Beau Chambers but narrowly scraped through with a victory in a time of 17:43.009.

Beau finished with a time of 17:43.392.

Wil's kart racing career began at Hyperdrive, Kingston but has forged ahead in the last 12 months with him racing regularly in Victoria and New South Wales.

"He is always modest about his achievements," proud grandmother Jenny Wheatley said.

"Although he does intend to be the next Max Verstappen!"

Wil will be travelling back to the mainland in December to receive his trophy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Don't cry over spilt paint

Dear Editor,

My name is Amanda, I am 48 years old and have been living in a small van with my dog Josie.

Cost of living makes it impossible for me to rent a house or unit and having a dog makes it impossible for me to get into a share house.

The one thing I really missed was finding a reason to be creative.

I can't do a lot of art for my own home because I don't have one.

I have a Fine Arts degree from UTAS.

This year I have had access to a small studio in Sandy Bay and thought it would be a great space for me to do some art again.

I thought that I could perhaps turn my studio into a tutoring place.

I wanted to get permits but couldn't afford them.

Being houseless meant I could not find a regular 9-5 job and have my dog stuck inside my van for too many hours at a time.

I needed to come up with a job that gave me the flexibility to work when I wanted and enabled me to meet mine and Josie's needs.

I started to seriously think about my art workshops.

I talked to Centrelink and started the Self Employment Assistance program.

I have started using the KIN Creative Space at the Kingston Beach Community Hall.

I did not want to do another 'sip and paint,' I wanted to do something different.

I wanted to do 'draw and paint' alcohol-free workshops. Most people haven't tried to do art since they were little kids because they say they can't draw.

I have invented a way for people to draw with their mobile phones.

I teach students how to use their mobile phones as a lightbox and projector.

My business is called Colour Play Studio and after I teach people how to transfer an image from their phone to a canvas, we then look at colour schemes, paint consistency and paint layers.

I had my first class recently.

The students all gave me positive feedback about their drawing and painting workshop.

I probably could not have afforded to pay for my business expenses if I was renting a traditional house or unit.

As a mobile art tutor I wish to travel around Tasmania and empower others to take up visual arts.

Visual arts have always been a huge part in my life and has pulled me through tough times.

Homelessness is usually talked about with a tinge of sadness and pity, but nobody has any real solutions to provide something suitable and affordable.

Crying about my houseless situation will not help me nor the thousands of other homeless people we have in our first world country, so I continue to park my van in suburban streets and carry enough art supplies for ten students wherever I go.

Thanks for your listening ear.

Amanda Ward

No easy feat to find

Dear Editor,

To the thoughtful person who found my Raine & Horne key at Channel Court and took the time and effort to find the management office (no easy feat to find) and handed it in, thank you so much for your trouble.

Thanks also to Fiona at Raine & Horne who I phoned, and she put me in the right direction to call Channel Court.

Amanda Ward teaches her students to draw and paint from images pulled from their mobile phones. In this example she took a screenshot of an artwork by Frank Vidal, transferred the image to a canvas where she did a small painting and then used the same image to project onto a larger piece of paper to do a pastel study. SOUTH BRUNY

Drowning tragedy

Dr Dennis Pashen tragically drowned off Kingfisher Beach at South Bruny on Thursday, November 23.

Dr Pashen had a four-decade career in the health industry before retiring in 2021.

He devoted much of his career working in regional Queensland before moving to Tasmania in 2006.

In 2022 he was named the Tasmanian Rural Doctor of the Year for his work in Queenstown.

Dr Pashen was last seen swimming out to his dinghy around 5pm.

A rescue helicopter was dispatched to the scene and the deceased was recovered in the water around 6pm.

Dr Pashen was well respected and will be deeply missed by his community of family, loved ones and former colleagues.

New council areas report

The final report of the Future of Local Government Review proposes to split the suburbs of Kingborough between ‘Western Shore’ and ‘Southern Shore’ councils.

The Western Shore Council would be formed by merging the Glenorchy and Hobart LGAs along with Taroona. The Southern Shore Council would merge Huon Valley and Kingborough LGAs, excluding Taroona. This follows on from the surveys the Local Government Board conducted from June 8 to July 6.

The surveys invited community members, council staff and members and other stakeholders to comment on the proposal of the Stage Two Interim Report to amalgamate the 29 Tasmanian councils into nine community catchments.

A variety of scenarios were proposed for how councils could be divided into these community catchments.

The final report has proposed Taroona join the Western Shore Council and the rest of Kingborough merge into the Southern Shore Council following these survey responses.

The report acknowledges that discussion on boundary changes is less advanced in Kingborough, along with Hobart, Glenorchy and Huon Valley, but says these councils have nevertheless expressed clear interest in exploring these options.

“If a successful community-initiated elector poll requests councils to consider amalgamation, the Minister for Local Government should request the Local Government Board to develop a formal amalgamation proposal and put it to a community vote,” the report said.

Minister for Local Government Nic Street said “We have been clear that this Review will not result in forced amalgamations of councils, and that has not changed”.

“There will be no change to council boundaries unless both the councils and communities want them.”

The final report is open for comment until February 29, 2024.

Bill Harvey conducts numerous workshops around Hobart. Biochar is a carbon-rich charcoal that can be added to soil. (PS)

Essential skills for Tasmanians

Scala, the training company run by Steve Wiggers from Taroom, is collaborating with industry peak bodies, employers and Searson Buck to develop an innovative solution to support Tasmanians in gaining employment in the food service sector.

In Tasmania, the demand for skilled workers in the food service sector is rising.

This industry is vital to our state's economy and supports careers from hospitality and tourism to supermarkets and food delivery.

To thrive in these roles, specific skills and certifications are essential.

A food handling certificate, proficiency in customer service and appropriate attire like closed-toed shoes are not just requirements; they are the foundation of a successful career in this vibrant sector.

"We have crafted an interactive, fun, and highly effective half-day program that equips participants with crucial skills to gain employment," said Scala CEO Steve Wiggers.

"And the best part is it's 100 per cent funded through Jobs Tasmania's Job Ready Program, ensuring that Tasmanians facing hardship can access this opportunity at no cost.

"Our program is more than just training; it is a gateway to a significant employment sector across Tasmania.

"Participants will emerge not only with a food handling certificate and customer service know-how, but also with the confidence to step into a role in the food service industry.

"They will also receive a voucher for essential work attire, including Blundstone boots, ensuring they are job-ready in every aspect."

This program is focused on aiding those in challenging circumstances, with priority given to individuals, including migrants, who are unemployed, underemployed or recently commenced work, ensuring that the support reaches those who need it most.

Scala, in partnership with Searson Buck, is proud of its history of working with thousands of Tasmanians, developing enterprise skills and making a real impact on individual lives.

Participants are invited to join this exciting program, with local workshops in Kingston and Huonville.

Visit www.scala.edu.au/jobready for more information, eligibility criteria and to apply for this free program.

The training company Scala will have workshops in Kingston and Huonville as part of a program that equips participants with essential skills for the food service industry. Kettering organisation in national partnership

The Kettering-based Net Zero Channel (NZC) has been selected as one of the 10 community groups to partner with Rewiring Australia out of 75 applicants.

The groups collaborated in an eight-week program that included workshops, training materials, resources and knowledge sharing.

The program aims to support new or existing community groups who want to help their community transition from fossil fuel powered appliances and cars to efficient electric vehicles and tools that run on renewable energy.

NZC is a volunteer-led organisation focused on helping the community take cost-effective and achievable actions to achieve the lowest carbon and environmental footprint.

As part of the project, NZC will conduct a comprehensive survey of the local community to establish what people think and how they feel about engaging with climate change mitigation at a local level.

They will launch the 'Emissions Impossible' project that will reach out to local schools to engage students with the challenge of designing the home of the future.

They will also revisit the successful Electricana event from August 2022.

During Electricana, NZC organised more than 300 test drives of electric vehicles for interested community members.

This time, Electricana will feature electric power tools and bikes as well.

Rewiring Australia is a non-profit organisation co-founded by Dr Saul Griffith and Dan Cass and uses research, advocacy and deployment to find climate and cost-of-living solutions through electrification.

Net Zero Channel (NZC) based in Kettering is one of 10 community groups selected to join a national partnership program with Rewiring Australia. They formed in 2022 and have been running regular information sessions on lowering the community's carbon footprint. (PS)

Kelvedon Park upgrade

Work has commenced to upgrade Tarooma Football Club's home ground, Kelvedon Park.

The upgrades seek to improve the drainage of one of Kingborough's most-used sporting grounds and are funded by Kingborough Council. Kingborough Councillor and Tarooma Football Club men's player Kaspar Deane said that the condition of the pitch has deteriorated significantly in recent years. "Unfortunately, even the slightest bit of rain has resulted in matches and training being cancelled," he said. "For a winter sport like soccer, it's obviously frustrating, not the least for our juniors." Tarooma Football Club's President Sam Johnson said "There's no way a volunteer-run club like ours could afford this kind of work so we are very grateful for Council's support". "Hopefully, the new upgrades will mean the ground stays open even when the weather isn't playing ball." Tarooma Football Club is Kingborough's second-biggest soccer club, catering to all ages and abilities with over 280 junior and youth players, holiday programs and several competitive and social women's and men's teams.

A 400 metre section of the left hand Hobart-bound lane was closed from 6.30pm to 8.00pm on Thursday, November 30 and Monday, December 4. The closures were to ensure safety while parts of the demolished buildings were removed.

For that special piece of jewellery

At Lanique Design in Cygnet, goldsmith and jeweller Nina Lafeld displays a selection of her hand-made jewellery.

reconstruction of an older piece of jewellery.

Nina works in several precious metals including gold, white gold and silver.

She offers a wide choice of faceted stones as well as the less common but very attractive cabochon cut, which suits many semi-precious stones such as peridots or sunstones.

As well as traditional precious stones, such as diamonds and emeralds, Nina works with rare and unusual stones including native sapphires and the 'Killiecrankie Diamonds', found only in Tasmania.

Nina is able to melt old gold pieces on site to form into new designs, which saves both time and money and means that your precious items never need to leave Nina's shop.

The workshop is also where she designs and makes her new pieces, often taking inspiration from nature.

She also carries a range of decorations, giftware and artwork, locally made lampshades and woodwork items, all great for Christmas.

Melissa Polley and her team at Natural Hair and Now have combined both salons and are sharing a space with The Beaute Spot in Kingston. (PS)

Natural Hair and Now has moved

After operating from their Kingston Beach and Blackmans Bay salons since 2017, Natural Hair and Now has combined both salons and is sharing a space with The Beaute Spot in Kingston.

Natural Hair and Now was founded by Melissa Polley, who has been part of the hairdressing industry for 26 years, working locally and interstate, gaining the skills and experience required to become a senior stylist.

Along with her team, Melissa has created a salon where clients can relax, be confident and leave the salon feeling amazing after each and every visit.

Melissa and her team will now all be working out of the one new salon in Kingston, still offering the same outstanding service they are known for.

"This is such an exciting next step for our business," said Melissa.

"After working out of our two salons, it's great to have our girls all together in the one space and even better that we can work alongside Lauren and her team at The Beaute Spot.

"Hairdressing is so much more than just a hair styling to my girls and I.

"We are truly passionate about what we do, and we always go the extra mile to ensure that we provide you with the best service possible, all with a smile!

"We have such a loyal client base who have supported us for many years which we are so thankful for, and are looking forward to welcoming new clients to our new Kingston salon."

Whether it be a trim or a full transformation, the girls at Natural Hair and Now will look after you.

Natural Hair and Now is located with The Beaute Spot Kingston in Westside Circle, next door to Repco and just over from McDonalds.

Bookings can be made through their booking system Fresha or call 0412 685 245.

A berry merry Christmas

Berry season has arrived at the Farm Gate Hut at Whispering Spirit, Franklin, starting with gooseberries and strawberries, followed by raspberries, silvanberries, tayberries, Morello cherries, yostaberries and red and blackcurrants, all grown without chemicals.

Just after Christmas, blueberries and heirloom tomatoes will be available for purchase.

"Come along to our Farm Gate Hut and enjoy the atmosphere," said Whispering Spirit's Heidi Bauer.

"Pick some herbs for free and do some shopping at the produce stall; ring the cow bells loudly and we will help with anything else."

Fresh bread, cakes and biscuits are available, and in the lead-up to Christmas, there may be some Christmas stollen.

In the freezer you'll find ice cream made from berries, frozen berry delights and frozen fruits," said Heidi.

"Everything we make is homemade or home-grown. "We look forward to seeing you at our farm produce hut!"

Cricket gala ball will shine bright

The Kingborough District Cricket Club is once again in full preparation mode for their next charity gala ball event which will be held on February 17, 2024 at Wrest Point Casino.

Following their successful inaugural ball held earlier this year alongside their nominated charity the McGrath Foundation, the club raised and donated a staggering $25,533 to support the funding of breast care nurses in our communities.

The club, in collaboration with the event's major sponsor Allied Health Group, is now proud to announce their nominated charity partner will be the Starlight Children's Foundation, raising funds to grant wishes to sick Tasmanian children and their families.

When a sick child's world is filled with hospital and treatment, a Starlight Wish is an incredible gift of happiness, creating a lasting impact on the whole family.

The Starlight Children's Foundation is dedicated to bringing happiness to sick kids when they need it most, replacing fear, pain and boredom with laughter and joy.

The Starlight Children's Foundation will be supporting the event with a guest speaker, and the club has also engaged local Tasmanian Edwin Gluyas and his family to talk about his wish and what that means for their family.

Edwin is being granted his wish in February 2024 and will be travelling to Sydney with his family to see Taylor Swift in concert.

If you would like to be involved in this wonderful event, whether by sponsorship through various sponsorship packages available, or donate items for the auction or raffles held on the night, please reach out to one of the club's dedicated committee members.

Tickets or tables can be purchased via www.trybooking.com/CMCNP, with all proceeds from the event to be donated to granting wishes to sick Tasmanian children and their families.

For more information, please contact the following Starlight Gala Ball committee members: Cathy O'Brien 0438 671 257, Catherine Hay 0419 347 57, Chris Hay 0412 753 549, Jackie Vincent 0422 822 298, Lincoln Street 0411 308 562 or Louise Wallace 0429 671 462.
