

Kingborough Awards winners announced

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt announced the recipients of the Kingborough Awards, including two community groups and two outstanding individuals, in a community ceremony on Saturday, January 6.

The Kingborough Community Group of the Year was awarded to Kingborough Community Missions, who provide around 10,000 meals every year to Kingborough community members experiencing tough times.

"They have made an outstanding contribution to the social wellbeing of the Kingborough community," Cr Wriedt said.

The Certificate of Appreciation was awarded to the Kingston Neighbourhood House team of volunteers.

The Young Citizen of the Year was awarded to Amelie Hudspeth.

Ms Hudspeth was a Sea Scout and has grown into leadership roles for climate change awareness.

"Amelie is an organised, confident and passionate young leader who is committed to making a difference," Cr Wriedt said.

Coles Kingston checkout changes

Coles Kingston has made some changes to their store layout, to the consternation of some local shoppers.

A community member reached out to the Kingborough Chronicle with their thoughts.

"I was informed by a supervisor that the express lane register that remains there is only for cigarette sales," they said.

"Consequently, because I won't use self-service machines I, amongst many other frustrated people, am stuck behind trolley loads of groceries with three or so items in our basket at what minimal registers they now open.

"Their aim, in my opinion, is to force us to use these machines.

"If people stopped using them and instead lined up at a checkout, they would have to open more registers.

"The express lane that was there worked well and was always busy."

The Kingborough Chronicle reached out to Coles Kingston for a response.

"In some stores we are introducing more checkout options for our customers to choose from," a Coles spokesperson said.

"This includes more self-service options, while maintaining regular main lanes and our express lanes.

"Self-service checkouts are a great option for customers because they offer convenience and efficiency when shopping in our stores to help customers check out more quickly and pack their bags the way they like.

"Stores that receive upgrades to the checkout area generally result in an increase to the total number of registers.

"The upgrades mean there are more options open and available for our customers, helping to make their trip in store quicker and easier."

Tanya's handfish political stunt

Dear Editor

With the climate emergency worsening and ocean temperatures rising, species are headed for extinction at an alarming rate and habitat continues to be lost.

Is the best proposition that Minister for the Environment and Water Tanya Plibersek can come up with really to remove Tasmanian handfish out of their environment and house them in captivity?

Really?

Is this the best decision she can make?

Or is this a desperate attempt to prevent species from going extinct 'on Tanya's watch' without a care for the broader climate emergency and real reasons we are losing species to extinction, and our losing battle with human-precipitated climate change?

Tanya: stop the self-preservation stunts and do something real to protect everybody from climate change.

Tassie devils no longer our flavour of the month

Dear Editor

Christmas this year has witnessed many more Tassie devils near Montagu being hit by traffic on the local roads.

Known as a devil roadkill hotspot for many years, the Circular Head Mayor doesn't want to change anything to protect the local devil populations.

Maybe the Department of Natural Resources' Save the Tasmanian Devil Program also endorses this 'do nothing' response.

Tanya Plibersek might want to do something about it though, to honour her promise not to let any endangered species go extinct while she is in power.

Maybe she can embark on another 'stick them all in captivity to prevent them going extinct' until the next Cabinet reshuffle when it becomes somebody else's problem.

My different thoughts on youth aggression

Dear Editor

As an older Kingborough resident, my heart goes out to Sue Carolyn's December 19 letter, "We have a crisis."

I too have realistic fears about threatening or violent behaviour.

I also uphold freedom of expression and belief, cornerstones of our society.

And I must contribute my different thoughts on some causes of youth aggression.

It is not pleasant what Sue Carlyon saw and experienced.

Yet I argue it is too simplistic to attribute such events to the offenders' "...drug, alcohol ... spiritually lost" status.

We all rely on police officers to keep basic order and protect us when necessary.

Police and most frontline emergency responders can't all be expected to be highly competent psychologists or sociologists - yet they are frequently thrust into situations where those skills are urgently required.

Increasing social inequity, especially with housing, as well as not-so-easily evident histories of abuse or other impediments in many young people's lives are contributing factors, which can lead to very bad behaviour.

Poorly managed mental illness and the more destructive oppositional aspects of 'social media' don't help either.

When we encounter strange-looking individuals or experience unpleasantness in public, citizens should try to be calm and to not be obviously judgemental.

Confronting and disagreeable situations can frequently be alleviated either by showing tolerance and empathy or, when safe, just ignoring them.

Rosny trumps Twin Ovals

Kingborough Council's proposal for the high performance training and administration centre for the Tasmanian Football Club (TFC) has lost out to the Rosny Parklands proposal from Clarence Council.

TFC Chair Grant O'Brien said the Tasmanian AFL Club was very appreciative of the support and enthusiasm of Kingborough and Clarence Councils in progressing this exciting development.

"It will represent a symbol of the club's ambitions and values," Minister for Sports and Recreation Nic Street said.

"We're confident players and staff will embrace this location.

"It is close to the city and the airport, has great amenities nearby, and will make the team highly visible.

"With projects such as this, it's always unfortunate that there cannot be multiple winners as we saw a strong bid by Kingborough Council for the Twin Ovals site that demonstrated their passion for their community and for AFL.

"Kingborough's submission highlighted the importance of ongoing development of sporting precincts in growing municipalities and as Minister for Sport and Recreation, I look forward to continuing these discussions with Kingborough Council in relation to future opportunities at the Kingborough Sports Precinct."

The TFC said it will continue to work with councils across Tasmania to explore various ways in which AFL-level content can be brought to key facilities across the state, including Twin Ovals, Dial Park and UTAS Stadium.

Kingborough community treasures

The Citizen of the Year was presented to Hester van Niekerk for her continual effort in helping others.

Hester has volunteered with the Lions Club for over 14 years for many events including the Kingborough Art Prize, Love Living Locally, Day at the Park as well as being a devoted fundraiser for children's cancer research.

"Mrs van Niekerk is well deserving of this award and is a community treasure worth celebrating," Cr Wriedt said.

"These awards are a way for Council to honour the outstanding voluntary service by community members who make Kingborough such a great place.

"The Kingborough Awards also provide an opportunity to celebrate how important volunteers are in our community, with 297,000 Tasmanians volunteering each year.

"Kingborough proudly has a high level of volunteers who give up so much of their time."

Blister pack recycling

The Lions Club of Kingborough have set up a recycling project for used blister packs, with help from the recently opened Terry White Chemmart Channel Margate.

The used blister packs were collected at the Brookfield Shed and now have a new home at the Margate pharmacy. Proprietor of Terry White Chemmart Channel Jemma Dazeley is helping the Lions Club to run this recycling project.

Jemma and her staff are more than happy to help by supplying a used blister pack collection bin for their customers. The Lions Club will maintain the keeping of the bin.

Ready Pet Go is emergency planning for your pets for scenarios such as bushfires. Deputy Mayor Clare Glade-Wright, Kingborough Council Coordinator Community Resilience Belinda Loxley and her dog Maggie. (PS)

Are you bushfire-ready?

It is not too late to prepare for bushfires.
There are a few simple steps you can take to protect yourself, your family and your property.
Doing your bushfire plan can take as little as five minutes.
Complete a bushfire plan online at www.fire.tas.gov.au or pick up a paper copy from the Kingborough Council office.
Remember that during a bushfire, you may lose phone and internet connection.
If the power goes out, you won't be able to use electric gates, electric pumps and phone chargers.
Listen to your ABC Radio station for up-to-date emergency information on 936 AM.
Burning embers can travel great distances ahead of a fire front and high winds, and falling trees and smoke can make driving dangerous.
Leaving early is always the safest option.
If you are in a high-risk area, near bushland or grassland, that may mean leaving before there are tangible signs of fire.
Stay informed and monitor conditions during the bushfire season to help you decide the best course of action.

Monitor TASALERT for emergency services updates and the Bureau of Meteorology for the latest weather updates.
Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said this summer we do not want any emergencies, but it is best to be prepared.
"Natural disasters and emergencies can occur at any time, and this summer we have been warned that bushfires are a real possibility," Cr Wriedt said.
"Preparing yourself, your family and your home will put you in the best position to respond to an emergency event.
"It is important to keep yourself up to date with current conditions and warnings during the bushfire season."
You can look at the TFS website fire.tas.gov.au and the Kingborough Council website kingborough.tas.gov.au for more information on preparing yourself and your property for the upcoming bushfire season.
You can also contact Kingborough Council's Emergency Management and Community Resilience Team at em@kingborough.tas.gov.au or call 6211 8200.

Adventurous Joey takes the challenge

Joey Scout Harry Ellul was presented with the Joey's Challenge Award by the Scouts Kingborough District Commissioner Dr Julian Dermoudy last month.
The Joey Challenge is the peak award for the Joey section of Scouting.

It is the culmination of several years of hard work for Harry, who learned bushcraft, bushwalking and camping skills, completed six special interest projects in areas of his choice, and led other Joey Scouts on a three-hour adventurous journey, cycling from Snug to Margate and back.

Scouts Kingborough District Commissioner Julian Dermoudy presented 8-year-old Harry Ellul with the Joey Challenge Award on December 14 in Snug. (PS)

Margate motorists not under the influence

On Saturday, December 30, police officers from the Huonville and Kingston police stations, with the assistance of road policing services, conducted a high visibility static random breath testing (RBT) site on the Channel Highway at Margate.

Acting Sergeant Ben Fogarty said of the 307 motorists intercepted, there was one defect notice issued, one unlicensed driver, two unregistered motor vehicles and one suspended driver.

Of the 307 RBTs conducted, there were no drivers detected under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

"It was pleasing to see the majority of road users continue to do the right thing this holiday season," Acting Sergeant Fogarty said.

"Safety on our roads is a priority for Tasmania Police, and we will continue to conduct high visibility operations as we look out for you these holidays."

Police were targeting the 'fatal five' - speeding, fatigue, distraction, seatbelts and alcohol/drugs.

TARGA events postponed until 2025

Kingborough residents must wait another year for a TARGA leg that travels through the municipality.

Earlier this year, TARGA announced the 2024 route, including leg six, which would go through Kingborough and the Huon Valley.

Unfortunately, TARGA Australia has announced it will postpone the return of its tarmac rally events until 2025.

The 31st running of TARGA Tasmania, initially scheduled for April 8 - 13 this year will now be held from April 28 to May 3, 2025.

TARGA CEO Mark Perry said he was extremely disappointed about the further postponement but believes it is necessary to ensure a strong event for the future.

"In recent weeks it has become clear that the full scope of work needed for a successful return makes running the event in April 2024 an unachievable task," he said.

"While the further delay of our return will be sad news for thousands of people, we must ensure we get everything right first.

"This delay will enable us to finalise several key components while also fully supporting the ongoing coronial inquest which should see us in a position to implement all relevant recommendations from this process for the 2025 TARGA Tasmania."

The next TARGA event will include a leg that travels through the Kingborough municipality. (PS)

The 31st TARGA Tasmania has been postponed until 2025. Originally scheduled for April 8-13, 2024 the return date is now April 28 to May 3, 2025. (PS)

Learning in action

The Year 4 and 5 classrooms at Southern Christian College were abuzz with excitement as they hosted students from other grades who had come to visit their games arcade.

Each group had designed and made their own games, based on popular arcade favourites. There were versions of the ball toss, magic claw and whack-a-mole.

Peals of laughter rang through the room as the machines spat out tickets to the winners or there were groans of frustration when the game got the better of the players.

Throughout the term, students in Years 4 and 5 had undertaken a STEM-based inquiry into the interconnection between elements in a system.

To start the learning journey, the classes visited Intensity in Hobart, to learn more about various games and how payment, ticketing and prizes worked.

They brought their new discoveries back to school, as they began to design their own machines and negotiate how their arcade would operate.

As part of their investigations, students learned about concepts of causation and function and about how they can be learners who are self-managing, open-minded thinkers and risk-takers.

This is one example of how Southern Christian College applies the internationally recognised Primary Years Program.

Fundamental to the program is providing students with engaging experiences that encourage them to learn through cycles of action and reflection.

For more information on how the College inspires inquisitive minds, visit their website.

Hobart College students come out on top once again

On December 15, 2023, 11,300 students from across the state woke early to check their inboxes for an email from the Office of Tasmanian Assessments, Standards and Certification (TASC). This email provided students with their Tasmanian Certificate of Education (TCE) results for their Year 11 and 12 studies, including Vocational Education and Training (VET) Qualification certificates and Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) scores. Once again, Hobart College students received some of the highest achievements in the state. Twenty-three Hobart College students were named in the Top 101 ranked Tertiary Entrance scores state-wide.

This was the largest representation from any one school in Tasmania. Jemima Baghurst, Chelsea March, Felicity Jackson and Fernando Brito-Carvalho were named in the Top 12 Tasmanian Students by Tertiary Entrance Score. Principal Dr Libby Robinson said “The students’ achievements reflect not only exceptional talent and tenacity but also a rich partnership with families and the incredible hard work of staff across their 13-year educational journey”. Tarooma High School alumnus Chelsea March, upon receiving an ATAR of 99.8, said that it’s important to remember that exams don’t define where you are headed in life. “I hope that everyone knows they can still do the things they want to regardless of the outcomes of their exams,” she said. The future is in very safe hands with these graduating students whose pathways include medicine, law and engineering. The Top 100 Hobart College students for 2023 included: Jemima Baghurst - Tarooma High School, Felicity Jackson - Southern Christian College, Chelsea March - Tarooma High School, Fernando Brito Carvalho - Brazil, Jack Bowerman - Kingston High School, Toby Reynolds - Tarooma High School, Django Richardson -

Southern Christian College, Noelle Harradine - Sacred Heart College, Ewan Michelin - Tarooma High School, Finlay Grant - Kingston High School, Adam Barnbaum - Tarooma High School, Zhen Ren - Tarooma High School, Anne Poynter - Tarooma High School, Joel Terhell - Tarooma High School, Nicholas Harnwell - Tarooma High School, Ezekiel De Weys - Southern Christian College, Elijah de Vries - Home School, Thomas Watson - Tarooma High School, Joseph Robinson - Home School, Theodore Brown - Kingston High School, Ravind Sivakumar - Singapore, Joshua Neil - St Aloysius Catholic College, and Lily Chatterton - Tarooma High School.
